*AN ANSWER
They fashioned their weapons of daggers and spears, and of arrows and bows, and of rifles and guns. They called on the people to fight for their rights, and their lives, and their freedom and each other.
And for days after that they stirred and they urged them to march upon their neighbouring village below them — to march into victory, into love, and find a peace. War was officially declared yesterday — but no one came.*
— M.G.

'Dark closed down on a burdened mind,
And the road called mockingly through a leafless tree,
And a child went wandering, lost and free,
With nowhere to go, and nothing to find
And the people who cared, somewhere behind,
Were gone in the night, like the leaves from the tree.
And all that remained was the sound of the sea,
Beating on the shores of a tortured mind.'

To be born into
If you don't mind some people dying
All the time
Or maybe only starving some of the time
Which isn't half so bad
If it isn't you."

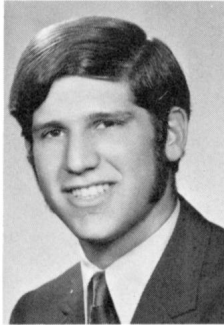

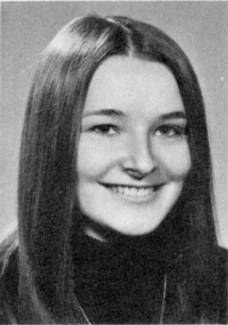

DOROTHY KUNE

In youth, it was a way I had To do my best to please,
And change, with every passing lad,
To suit his theories.
But now I know the things I know,
And do the things I do;
And if you do not like me so,
To hell, my love, with you!

Man's life is a cheat and a disappointment;

All things are unreal,

Unreal or disappointing;

The Catherine wheel, the pantomine cat,

The prizes given at the children's party,

The prize awarded for the English essay

The scholar's degree, the statesman's decoration.

All things become less real, man passes

From unreality to unreality.

— T.S. Eliot
