ELAINE ABER

If a child lives with criticism, he learns to condemn; if a child lives with hostility, he learns to fight; if a child lives with ridicule, he learns to be shy; if a child lives with encouragement, he learns to be confident; if a child lives with praise, he learns to appreciate; if a child lives with fairness, he learns justice; if a child lives with approval, he learns to like himself; if a child lives with acceptance and friendship, he learns to find love in the world.

INGRID CORBER

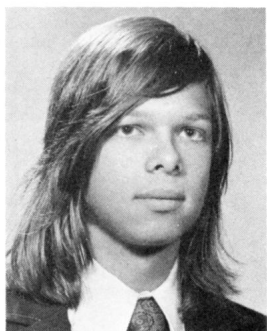

*Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
 And sorry I could not travel both
 And be one traveller, long I stood
 And I looked down one as far as I could*

*To where it bent in the undergrowth;
 Then took the other
 Because it was grassy and wanted wear.*

*Somewhere ages and ages hence:
 Two roads diverged in a wood, and
 I took the one less travelled by,
 And that has made all the difference.*
