Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and some absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day is all that is good and fair. It is too dear, with its hopes and invitations, to waste a moment on the yesterdays.

- Ralph Waldo Emerson

EDITORIAL

Graduation is not only an anticipated event but one which dominates the thoughts of those in their final year. As we are faced with a new beginning, we find ourselves remembering the moments wasted, the opportunities lost. And so, we suddenly become aware of the passage of time. Throughout the year, we are caught in a frenzy of activities, activities that never seemed so appealing.

As they, too draw to an end, we become reminiscent and envious of those who have still the time to accomplish what we thought could wait for another day, another week, another year.

But the hourglass will soon be reversed; a new day is about to begin . . . for us.

When one door closes, another opens; but we often look so long and so regrettably upon the closed door that we do not see the one which has opened for us.

- Alexander Graham Bell

Graduation is not only an anticipated event but one which marks an end as well as a beginning. And, as it approaches ever so stealthily, we are caught in a frenzy of activities - activities that never seemed so appealing. We envy those who have still the time to do all that we thought could wait another week, another month, another year.

Days merge into seconds - gone in an instant, lost forever.

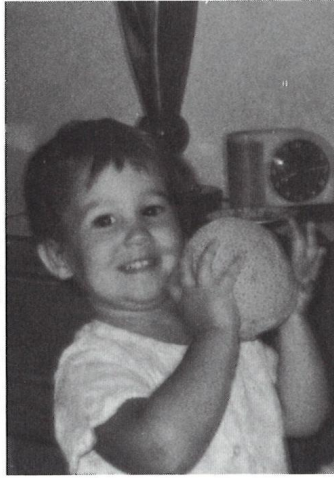

But the hourglass has been reversed and, too soon, a new day is about to begin . . . for us.

“YOUTH IS WASTED ON THE YOUNG”

The youth of this city are engaging in one of the greatest crimes known today yet they go unpunished. In fact, for the most part, their crime goes unnoticed because it is not against the “law”. These people have and are allowing their youth to slip through their fingers without so much as one word of protest. Who is responsible for this outrage? It is the society that bred them or is it the kids themselves? I submit that it is the former. A child is born without preconceived notions as to how he is to spend his youth and therefore these attitudes must have been taught to him by society.

Our society teaches that only “mature” behavior is acceptable and thus, seems to imply that becoming an adult is the ultimate accomplishment. It is therefore only natural a youth assume that it is therefore only natural a youth assume that it is desirable to act like an adult. Another cliché with which a youth is often confronted is “What do you want to be when you grow up?” Why are we expected to know WHAT we want to be when we have still to decide WHO we want to be?

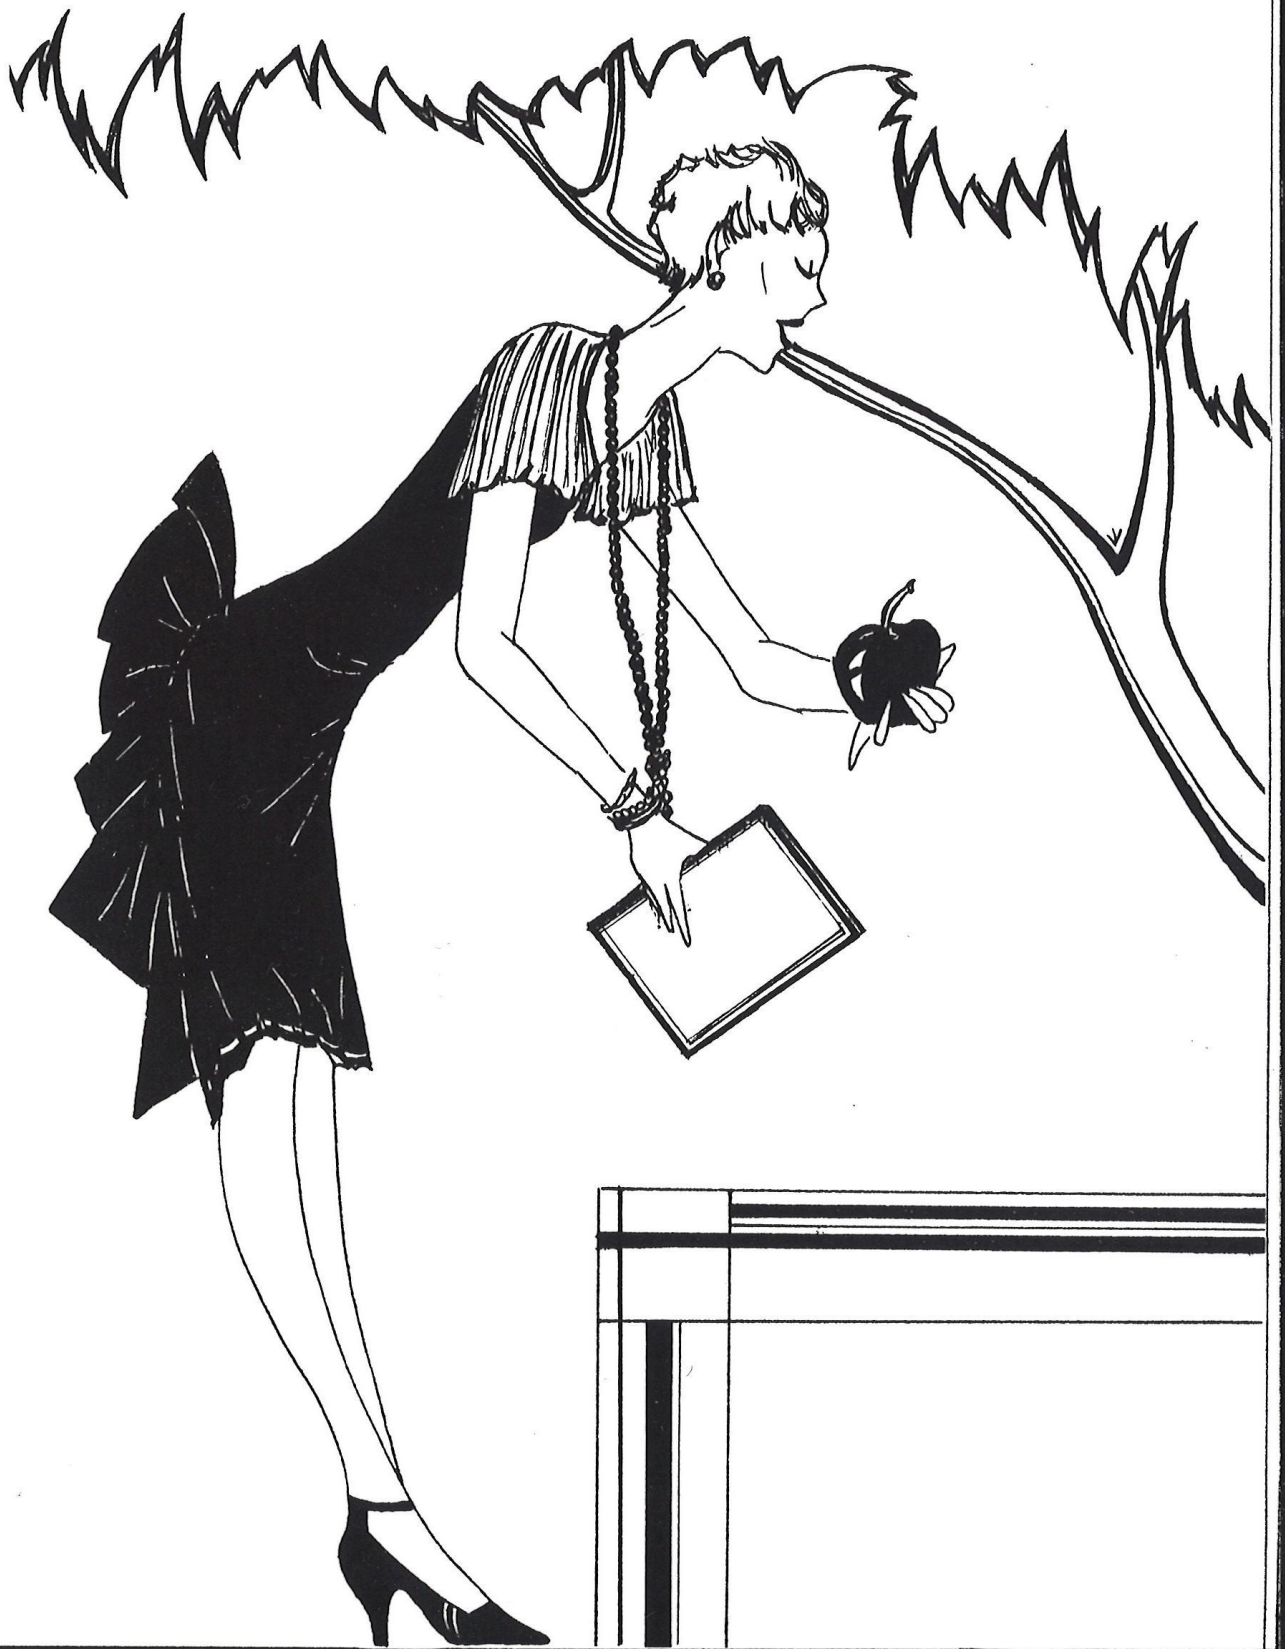

The inevitable result of this is that youths are made to feel inadequate, namely due to their age. On look around any high school should be sufficient to convince anyone of this. Everywhere are young people trying their best to imitate the dress of older people.

Perhaps what is even worse is that youths allow their entire lives to be dominated by adults. They don't take themselves seriously; thus, they leave their future in the hands of adults, having no confidence in anything organized by students. This appears to be a major factor for the ineffectiveness of Wagar student governments.

This all transcends to one basic fault of youth today - they accept the boredom and lack of fulfillment in their lives, stifling their creativity. The reason students do not believe in student-sponsored activities is their lack of belief in themselves. Kids should control MOST youth-oriented activities. This will get them involved and produce a sense of importance. It is time that we stopped asking our parents and teachers to spoon feed us.

Youth, wake up! If we are to solve our problems, we must do it ourselves. We should organize outlets for our creativity and enthusiasm rather than to stifle them. To be totally “grown-up” is the worst thing that I can conceive of happening to me. When a person of any age is “grown-up”, it denotes that he has lost that sense of naive adventure and the imagination which accompanies it. Stop fighting youth and accept it for the beautiful thing that it is. Don't be middle-aged before your time. Enjoy youth while you can enjoy it!

CREATIVITY

THE CANDLE

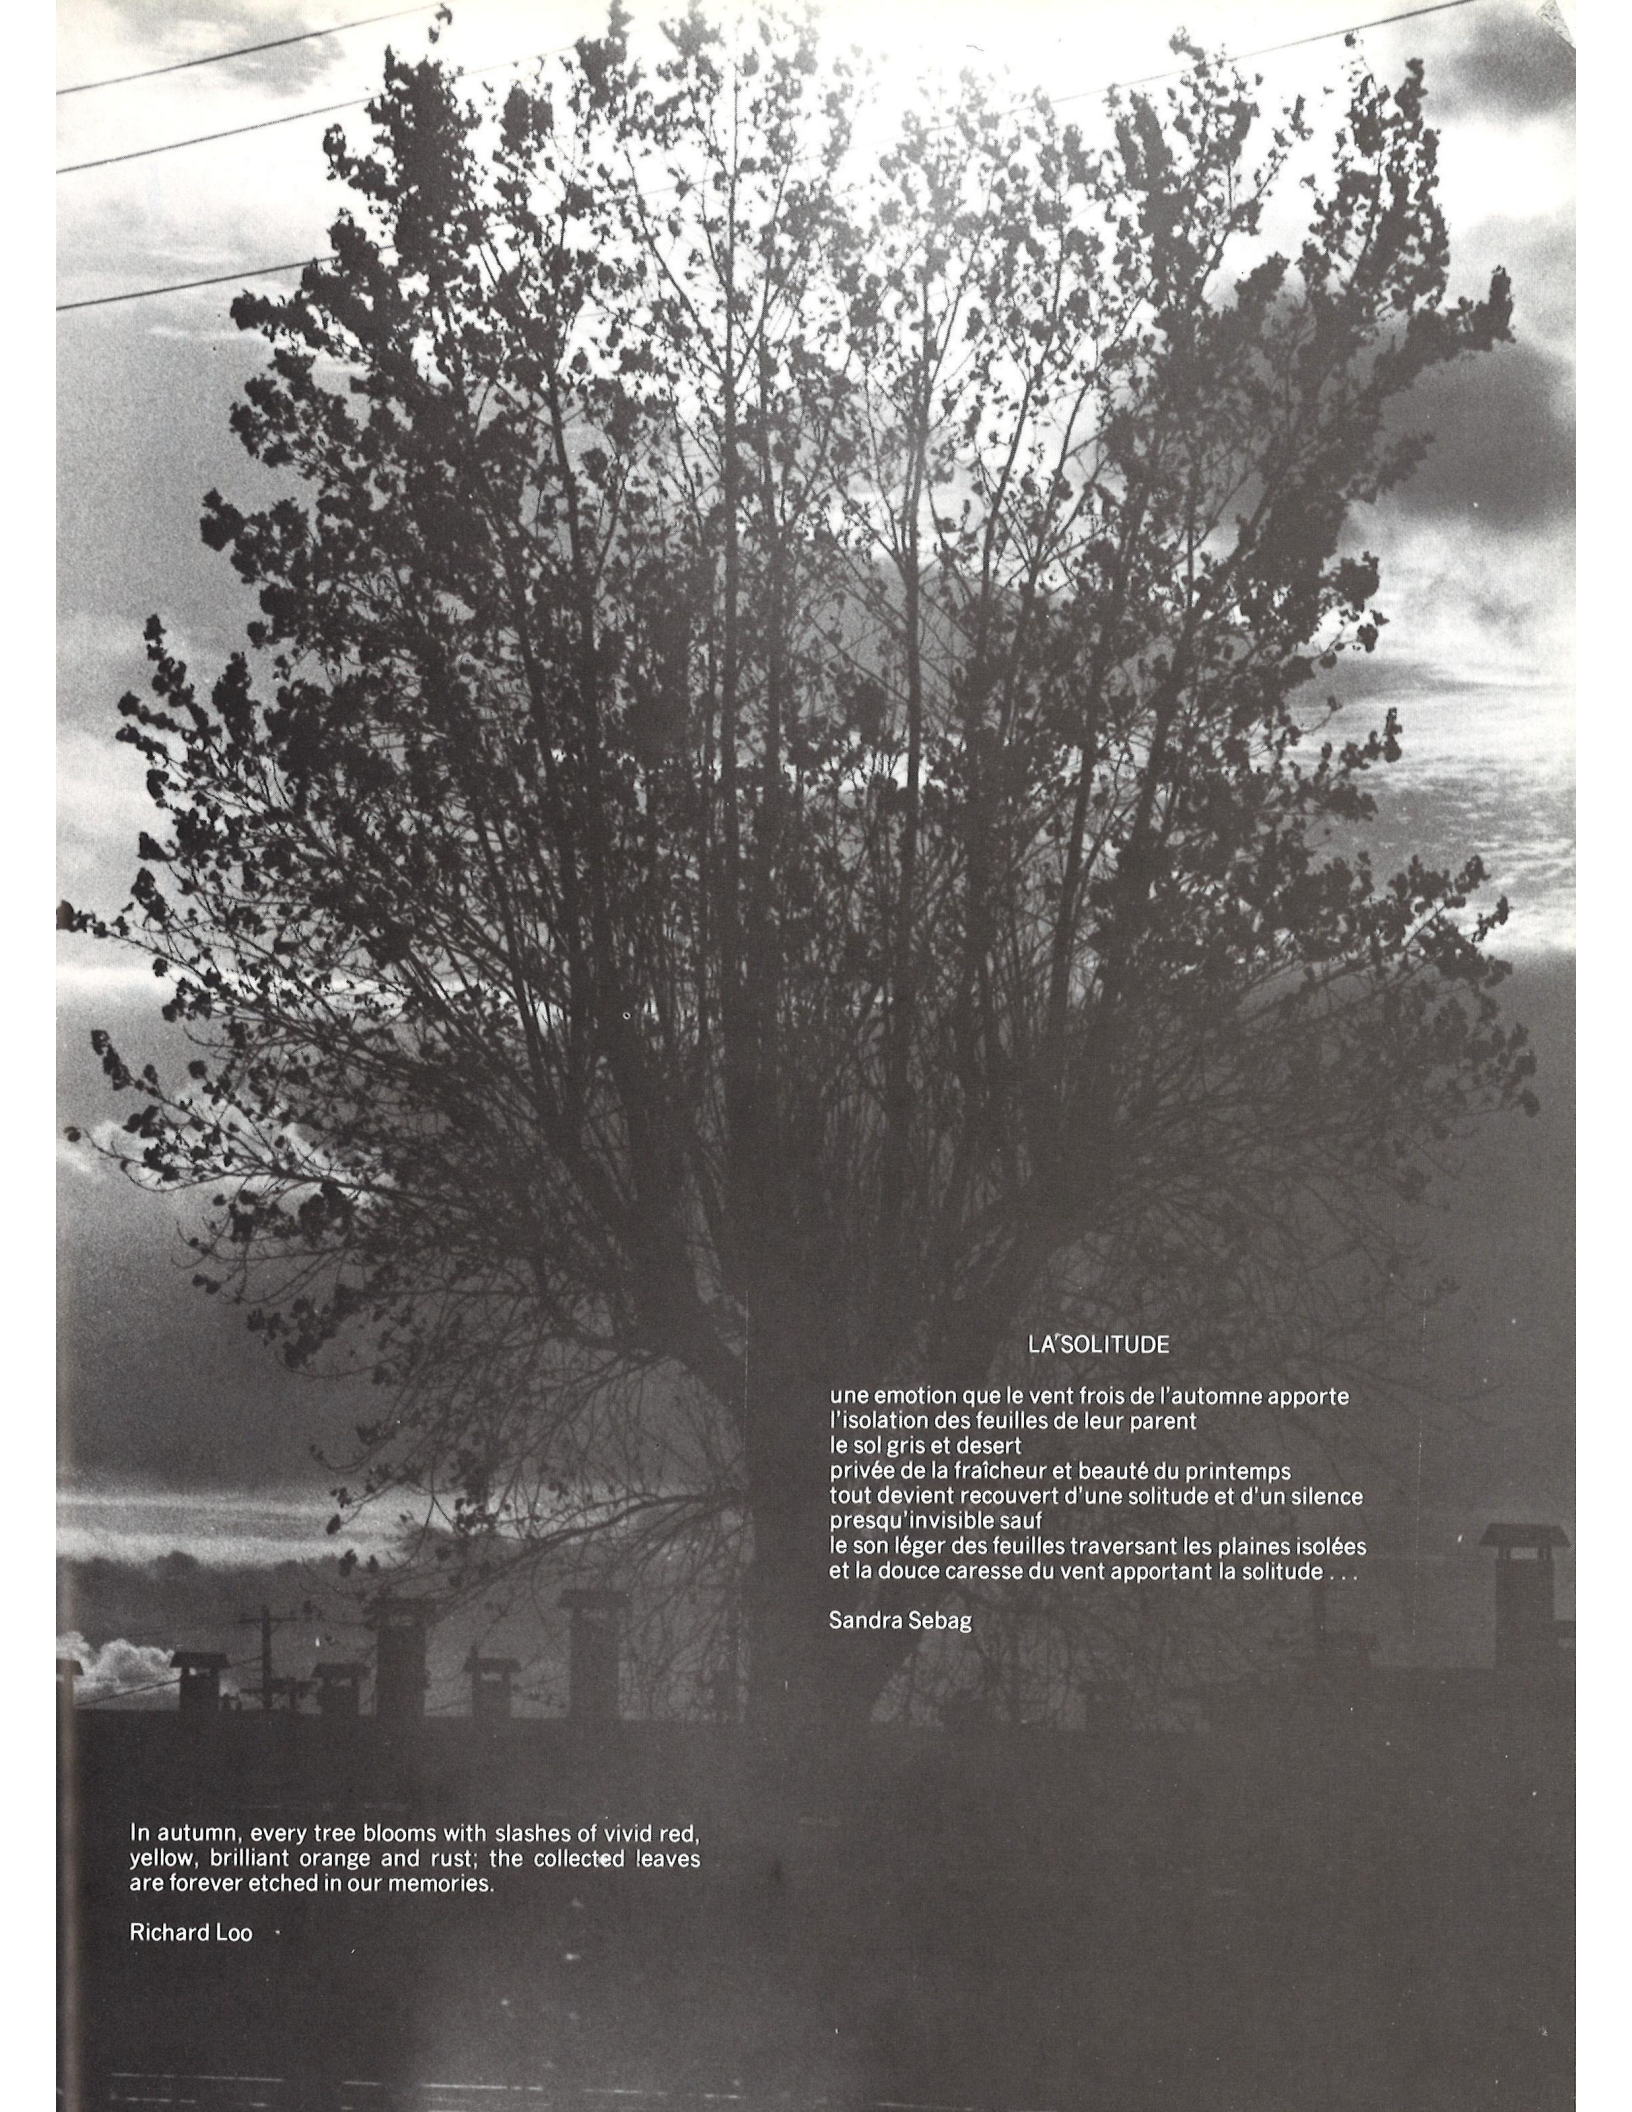

The flames made strange shapes
In the child's room.
Was that a bear or
Only the wind, she wondered,
Real or not,
A clawing lion was chasing
The frightened girl
Out of her room;
Helpless . . .

Just snuff the candle and
They would all be gone
Or would they?

LA SOLITUDE

une emotion que le vent frais de l'automne apporte l'isolation des feuilles de leur parent le sol gris et desert
privée de la fraîcheur et beauté du printemps tout devient recouvert d'une solitude et d'un silence presqu'invisible sauf
le son léger des feuilles traversant les plaines isolées et la douce caresse du vent apportant la solitude . . .

Sandra Sebag

In autumn, every tree blooms with slashes of vivid red, yellow, brilliant orange and rust; the collected leaves are forever etched in our memories.

I like
the quiet stillness

When all is asleep,
the whispering noises
in the dark
Beckon me

L'ENFANT

nous n'entendons plus les cries d'enfant.
obscuré par des obstacles,
nos Soucis,
nous devenons aveugles à
l'enfant.

face à la foule,
l'enfant devient muet.
pris de peur, il se cache;
sa présence nous échappe.

Virginia Lam

My friend,
Together we've travelled so many roads,
Roads of warmth, anger, tears and growth,
Lessons learnt and sweet laughter shared.
The innocent joy you've given me,
Caring which only brought us closer,
Silly things, intimate thoughts;
Feelings only we could share.
Understanding in a simple touch;
In silence our words expressed.
As one we overcame the obstacles of youth
And relinquished its treasures.
Commencing yet another journey,
Together always, a childish wish
... I know.

Four years back, the three of us arrived;
 We all got teachers really the pits.
 But in answering back we thrived
 For our strong point was our wit.

Few were our equals;
 We drove them crazy!
 We still excelled
 Although very lazy.

We managed easily.
 We defeated the system.
 Not by studying but by cheating.
 This would always beat them.

Wagar, we'll miss ya.
 'Cause we've had lots of fun.
 But the score remains
 Pyramid one, Wagar none.

En classe de français,
 On ne sait
 Ce que l'on fait.
 On peut juste rêver
 Comme on a une heure, je sais.

En classe d'anglais,
 Toute la classe lit.
 Nous faisons de la grammaire tous les jeudis;
 Personne ne rit.

En classe de sciences,
 On entend de la musique.
 On pourrait être en Martinique
 Mais maintenant nous étudions la physique.

En science politique,
 Nous discutons des lois, même
 Si elles sont mauvaises.

 C'est une règle bizarre mais
 Nous le faisons.

 Mais si je m'arrête ici;
 Ce serait mieux!

WUMBLE AND THE FAERIE PRINCESSE

by Arthur Birenbaum
Jodi Sondon
Veronica Lam

Dedicated to Maister Will Shakespeare,
With admiration and thanks.

(Dramatis Personae.

The Narrator
Elzbeth, the Faerie Queene.
Prince Orloff.
Wumble, the Ogre.
Grace, the Faerie Princess.

Scene. - Kingdom of Goode and
The Enchanted Forest)

PR: If this ogre I can slaughter,
Marry, could I wed your daughter?

QU: If you wish to, you may wed her,
But I suggest that first you get her.

To aid you in this deadly plight,
I give you Malray to help you fight.

NAR: Ah, Malray, the mighty sword of good,
Which all villains would capture - if only they could.

It was given to Elzbeth one cold winter morn,
By an old wayward squire, all cold and forlorn.

He said in the metal was some added strength,
And it could save her whole kingdom at length.

The squire would soon prove to be right,
For Orloff set out of the kingdom that night.

(Exeunt Elzbeth.)

PR: Oh me, oh my. Oh my, oh me!
It's time for my soliloquy:

"Now is the winter of our discontent,
Made glorious summer by this son of York."

NAR: It doesn't rhyme you stupid dork!

PR: Oh, shut your face! That isn't funny.
We're being marked by good ol' Bunny!

This reminds me of a time long gone.
I was chasing a dragon in a field around dawn.

That dragon gave me such a fright -
I kept on running clear through to the night.

I pray my fears I'll overcome.
Hark! My knees are growing numb!

The queen gave me this trusty sword,
I'm sure I'll win my just reward.

I'll meet him in his darkened lair,
Then kill him swiftly, this I swear.

Over the threshold I shall carry,
But first, I think we better marry.

Here I stand so suave, so brave.
I'll drive him quickly to his grave.

Alas, alak, oh woe is me!
Thus ends my short soliloquy.

NAR: And so he stalks the forest green,
To fulfill his bargain with the queen.

(Exeunt.)

ACT I

Enter the Narrator.

NAR: In the Forest of Hope, in the Kingdom of Good,
Elzbeth is sitting doing just as she should.

She's reading the folklore of England and Greece
To see how to keep her fair kingdom in peace.

The fact she's in trouble, no one could dispute;
Her problem's an ogre of infamous repute.

A clumsy old ogre who answers to Wumble.
He says not a word, but just snarls and grumbles.

In the dark of the night when all was sleeping,
Old Wumble came round - sneaking and creeping.

He went to the palace and grabbed Princess Grace.
The guards of the kingdom prepared for a chase.

Then came good Prince Orloff, quite tall and quite lean,
He was summoned that day to appear 'fore the queen.

Enter Queene Elzbeth and Prince Orloff.

PR: I heard you call, my gracious queen.
My wits are ready - sharp and keen.

QU: Good Prince catch Wumble like you would a fish,
And I shall grant your every wish.

WUMBLE AND THE FAERIE PRINCESSE

ACT II

Enter the Prince.

PR: The humblest knight, the fairest, the poorest,
Has just entered the Enchanted Forest.

Enter Wumble.

W: That Knight can't possibly be humble!
Take it from me, the ogre Wumble.

PR: I say, why'd you decide to keep her here?
Had thou a vision in which she did appear?

W: Last night I dreamt I saw a dove,
Which surely means I feel true love.

PR: "Tell me, where is fancy bred?
Or in the heart, or in the head?"

W: You have no right to call me menace!
You quote the wrong play,
That's from the MERCHANT OF VENICE.

PR: You're an "eye of newt and toe of frog,
Wool of bat and tongue of dog."

W: I'll drive you faster to your death -
For now you're quoting from MACBETH!

You did it again, now bite your lip.
Get off this stage and check your script!
(Exeunt Orloff.)

I am the ruler of this land.
I can banish a person with the wave of a hand.

I can take what I desire -
Believe you me, I am no liar.

I love to stare at her pretty face.
That's why I captured Princess Grace.

And now that silly prince I'll slaughter,
So I can wed the queen's fair daughter.

And keep her ever by my side,
I'm sure she'll make a lovely bride.

That stupid prince I truly hate,
He shall die - for that's his fate.

Come here dumb prince, come forth, come hither.
And I shall cut you to a sliver.

(Exeunt Wumble)

NAR: Through the forest the prince did race,
Till he heard the voice of Princess Grace.

Enter Prince Orloff.

PR: Hark! I think I hear the princess speak,
Perhaps I'll go and take a peek!

Enter Princesse Grace.

GR: "Romeo, Romeo,
Wherefore art thou Romeo?"

PR: Romeo, Romeo, I know not the name -
Prince Orloff is my claim to fame.

GR: "What's in a name?"
They're all the same!

Enter Wumble.

W: I've got you now, you slimy fish!
For dinner tonight, you'll be the dish.

NAR: Around the glen the prince did scan.
It was time to think of a very fast plan.

He looked at his hand and he saw the queen's sword.
To waste anymore time, he could not afford.

PR: Now good Malray will help me fight,
For evil shall perish before good's might!

NAR: And so the evil villain Wumble
Fought and yelled and felled and stumbled.

Breaking bones in both his legs,
To Prince Orloff, humbly begged!

W: Oh sir, I shall be sweet and good,
And only do as I should

PR: The Princess Grace I wish to wed.
The best kind of ogre is one who's dead!

W: Oh, Prince of fools, I wish you Hell!
(He expires.)

PR: Alas Poor Wumble, I knew him well.

"Good night, good night, parting is such sweet sorrow,
That I shall say goodnight 'till it be morrow."

NAR: And so they left with joyous laughter,
And all lived happily ever after.

Through this whole play, we've quoted Willy,
And, we admit it has been silly!

We thank him for the lines he gave,
And hope he's not turning in his grave!
(Exeunt the Narrator)

DINING OUT IN THE SEVENTIES

CANADA: In October, 1970, Quebec restaurants were ravaged by the FLQ (Food Liberators of Quebec). One major British restaurant consultant was kidnapped - FLQ's reason was that he was plotting to infiltrate French Canadian markets with dull British colonial food. Soon after, a Quebec restaurateur was abducted and killed. These dastardly acts were followed by the Food Measures Act which enabled Health Inspectors to impound all inferior cuisine without a warrant. Canada's PM (Premier Maitre d') called all opposers of his measures "lily-livered meatloafs". The crisis concluded with the release of the Briton in exchange for a free meal in Cuba. The terrorists stated that the food was probably better there anyway! There, they found the food too spicy and took their exile to France where the food was more appetizing. However, in a few years, they were forced to leave France as they had served red wine with fish. Upon returning to Canada, they were sentenced to 20 years in the public restaurant service with pension. WARNING: Ordering Dr. Pepper in a Quebecois restaurant is considered gauche.

When in Western Canada, it is strongly recommended to stay away from Alberta's Oilmen Restaurant. The food is quite good (if you like the tar sands flavour) but the Texas tea served afterwards is upsetting not only to the palette but to the pocketbook as well. (The tea costs $5 per litre or $80 a barrel!) The most recent federal PM, a member of the Progressive Cuisiniers (PC) was forced to resign his job. He had a tendency towards advertising one item in the menu but serving another. The extravagant prices and the surcharges on the cutlery were other major reasons for his downfall.

The decor of Canadian restaurants are 3/4 McDonald and 1/4 Roi de Frites. The repatriated service leaves a lot to be desired. On the whole though, dining out in Canada is an "experience" we could happily do without but are unfortunately subjected to as there is none better. RATING: 2 1/2 Petrocans.

USA: The tie-died tablecloths and incense that once dominated American restaurants are gone as are the Jimi Hendrix and Black Sabbath tapes heard in such establishments. They have been replaced with Saturday Night Fever disco-glittered tablecloths;

the Bee Gees and Village People now offend the ear. The wallpaper is composed of shredded government documents.

A corrupt Maitre d' was involved in the "Watercress" scandal. At this restaurant, customers angrily complained about the bugs in their soup. The Maitre d' was exposed when his assistants, posing as chicken salesmen, were discovered trying to purloin a recipe for watercress from a rival chain. The new owner promises service with a southern drawl and decor is heavily Planters influenced.

The food has undergone several changes as well. The old Maitre d' favoured Vietnamese cuisine but it was a particularly disastrous Chow Mein dish and the failure of wok cuisine with the masses which led those items to be eliminated from the menu. To regain the restaurant's former prestige, the Maitre d' took a trip to China in hope of finding new recipes. This was not sufficient. The Watercress scandal, coupled with the discovery that he made French Fries with the Cuisinart, led the man to resign. The current management favours anything with Skippy; Persian dishes are in strong disfavour; Middle Eastern dishes were not oily enough and were found to induce headaches.

RATING: 4 meals with Mr. Bill.

USSR: Little is known regarding the actual goings on of Soviet restaurant businesses. Secret recipes are kept from domestic as well as foreign customers. Branches of Soviet restaurants have, in recent years, opened in Vietnam, Afghanistan and Angola to go along with their established worldwide interests in Cuba, Poland, Albania, Czechoslovakia, etc. etc. Despite the ageing of their master chef, Soviet restaurants seem intent on expanding their spheres of influence. The "Kitchen Gourmet Board" (KGB), which represents the Union of Soviet Socialist Restaurants, and their American rival Union "Cuisine Institute of America" (CIA) have also expanded their influence internationally on the management of restaurants. As the 80s begin, the two groups are fighting for control of several key markets in the Middle East. Service: All named Ivan or Vladimir. Decor: Five Year Plan. RATING: 3 hammers and sickles.

AFGHANISTAN: Afghani restaurants are fiercely ritualistic. However, at present, they have their hands full trying to fight a takeover bid from a mighty conglomerate. Help from other independent restaurants and a rival conglomerate may be forthcoming but as of now, Afghani restaurants are in a desperate battle to keep their primitive culture alive. Service: Incoherent. Decor: 18th century. RATING: 3 lbs. of yak blubber.

CAMBODIA: Despite the limited dishes available in their menus, Cambodian restaurants have changed house specialties three times in the last few years - from hamburgers to Peking duck to borscht. (Beets us as to why!) Service: Prompt but extremely skinny. Decor: Nepal inspired. RATING: 1 bowl of rice.

TURKEY: Turkish restaurants have been relatively stable in the 70s. Their course reflects the ancient history and culture of the Turks. The specialty of the house is Midnight Express for those trying to smuggle their Turkish delights out of the country. There has been rapidly growing discontent recently among restaurateurs of the "ketchup influence" on Turkish cuisine. Do not be surprised if foreign owned restaurants in Turkey are nationalized in the 80s. Service: Fowl. Decor: Early Pilgrim. RATING: 3 limp fezzes.

EAST GERMANY: A nice place to visit but you wouldn't want to be caught dead eating there. Everyone in East Germany is on a training diet for the Olympics and therefore, the only meal served is the East German breakfast of Champions-Veaties. Our request for Big Macs was met with open hostility. When we regained consciousness, we found ourselves in a Kitchen Gourmet Board (KGB) establishment. After debriefing and brainwashing as well as a drop of pepto-bismal, we were sent on our way. Service: Nein. Decor: Spanish Inquisition style. RATING: 1 1/2 holes in the Berlin Wall.

ENGLAND: English restaurants are not as world renowned as they used to be. They entered the 70s in bad form financially and hit rock bottom in 1973-74 when they barely averted bankruptcy by obtaining a multibillion dollar loan from the International Restaurant Fund. In recent years, English restaurants have achieved a great recovery with a new female master chef and the introduction of PP soup into their menus. Service: Usually on strike. Decor: Stuffy.

RATING: 3 1/2 cups of tea.

NORTHERN IRELAND: Irish restaurants are still reluctantly under colonial control. Some militant Irish restaurant workers have formed the "Irish Restaurant Army" (IRA). They frequently set off bombs in British restaurants and will stop at nothing to gain independence. There is a distinct religious flavour to Irish restaurants. As well, there is internal strife in Northern Ireland as gourmets are divided equally over the age old question "Should fish be served on Friday?" Service: Hostile. Decor: An appalling shade of green.
RATING: 3 hand grenades.

UGANDA: As we entered the sweltering hut, we noticed a proliferation of carelessly draped Scottish tartan. Morgue overtones were everywhere and dining at this restaurant has only recently become safe. The previous Maître d' made things most unpleasant as white visitors, especially Israelis, were not welcome. His dislike of Israelis came about when a few hundred Israelis swarmed into the restaurant without reservations. The roast cabinet minister was only for the adventurous. Customers were known to disappear before their meal arrived. Although a new menu has not been introduced, it is doubtful that it will be as Palestinian as its predecessor.
RATING: 1 conqueror of the British Empire.

ITALY: Dining out in Italy is fine if price is of no object. People on limited budgets are advised to pay their bill when ordering as restaurant prices are known to go up while you eat your meal. In an effort to make payment easier, most Italian restaurants have provided good facilities for the parking of wheelbarrows. The only danger to restaurant goers is from the militant Red Brigade of take-out restaurants who butcher people and deliver while hot. The Red Brigade can ruin an otherwise enjoyable meal. Service: Usually on strike. Decor: Spaghetti on the wall.
RATING: 3 bars of Gucci soap.

IRAN: McDonald restaurants of Iran have been taken over by a mad man who serves only fillet-o-fish seven days a week. As well, muzak is no longer heard and restauranteurs are most unfriendly to foreigners. Iranians believe that Westerners want to bring back "Big Macs" against the will of the people. Service: Hostile rantings. Decor: Nationalistic.

RATING: 2 hostages.

PANAMA: (With special guest reviewer, Chico Escuela) "I have been asked to talk about the decor. Decor, I don't know but the Shah been berry berry good to me. The Shah tell me service is good berry good. No Extradition. Panama been berry berry good to the Shah. Food, I don't know."
RATING: 3 baseballs; 1 bomb on the Ayatollah.

SOUTH AMERICA: Although security was tight, the Maître d' was overthrown several times during the course of the meal. Shooting was sporadic and a mortar blast upsetted the gazpacho. The menu was highly original and varied but is constantly being revised. For example, a Chilean head chef was thought to be serving too much borscht lately by American customers. The Cuisine Institute of America (CIA) objected to this and revoked the chef's wine license. The Argentinian beef stew quadrupled in price by the time the check arrived. The Columbian dish had to be sent back as it was illegal. German food was surprisingly plentiful in Paraguay along with various SS Agents. Grape Kool-Aid "à la Jonestown" is not recommended. Service: Poor. Decor: Highly military in design with walls ornamented with brass howitzer shells and stuffed heads of revolutionaries.

RATING: 3 coup d'états.

LA FAISAN

Le faisan s'élançe à tire d'aile
Dans les cieux bleus et calmes.
Il éclate de couleurs vivantes.
Il s'étire' il voltige;
Il plane, il pique.
Il est libre, il me rend heureuse.
Il est innocent et je l'envie.
Mais un coup de feu interrompt le silence
Et brise la ronde du faisan.
L'oiseau n'est plus libre.
Il appartient, désormais, au chasseur.

A CONVERSATION

by Mark Cytrynbaum

"But what do you mean when you say 'they'? I don't understand what you mean by that."

" 'They' are the ones who are responsible, the businessmen, the head honchos, 'whoever'."

"But they're just out to make a buck. It's the people's fault, not theirs. Besides, it's a huge industry. What would happen if it folded overnight?"

"There would be a population explosion for sure."

"The question is on whether or not it is worth it. You obviously don't think it's worth it."

"I knew someone who thought it was worth it. He's dead now."

"How'd he die?"

"His house burned down."

"I'm sorry."

"Sure."

"Listen, it was in his hands. How can you blame anyone but him? It's like blaming General Motors when someone drives one of their cars off of a bridge, on purpose."

"People are imperfect, very imperfect. You've heard that classic story of the little kid being lulled into it. You think it's the fault of that little impressionable kid?"

"We've got a big problem."

"A big one."

"They were just numbers to me."

"Come to think of it, I knew someone. But it was so very long ago."

"I remember seeing them in school, walking down the halls. They said it was nothing but they were always going outside. Day in and day out. When they came in, you knew them and everyone who was near them knew them"

"You sound obsessed with this."

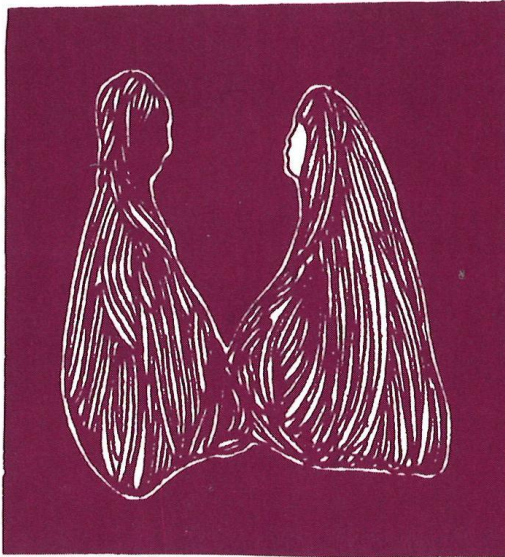

"I guess I am. It seems so useless."

"For some people, it's a big help."

"For others, it isn't"

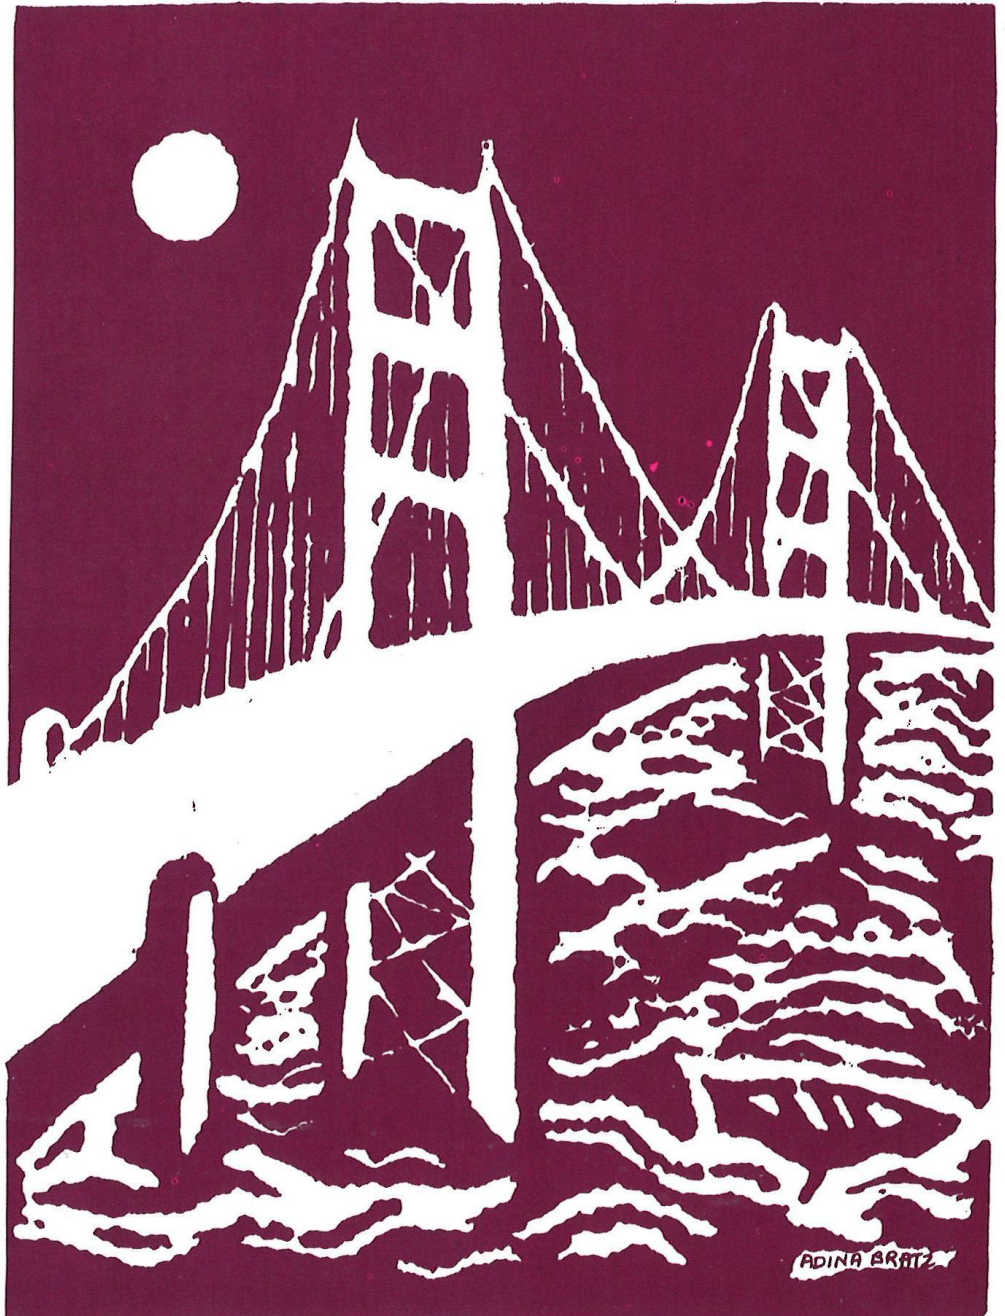

"I guess it's the kind of society we live in."

"I guess so."

"Crazy!" they say
As they lock me away
And they stare at me,
Poke at me,
Laugh in my face,
"Madness!" they cry
As they look in my eye
They can't see
That I'm free
From the laws of this place.
"Hopeless!" they shout
As they kick me about
And they bruise me
And beat me
And treat me with scorn,
"Pity," I smile,
For I've known all the while
That they'll try
And they'll cry
But I'll never conform.

Randa Helfield

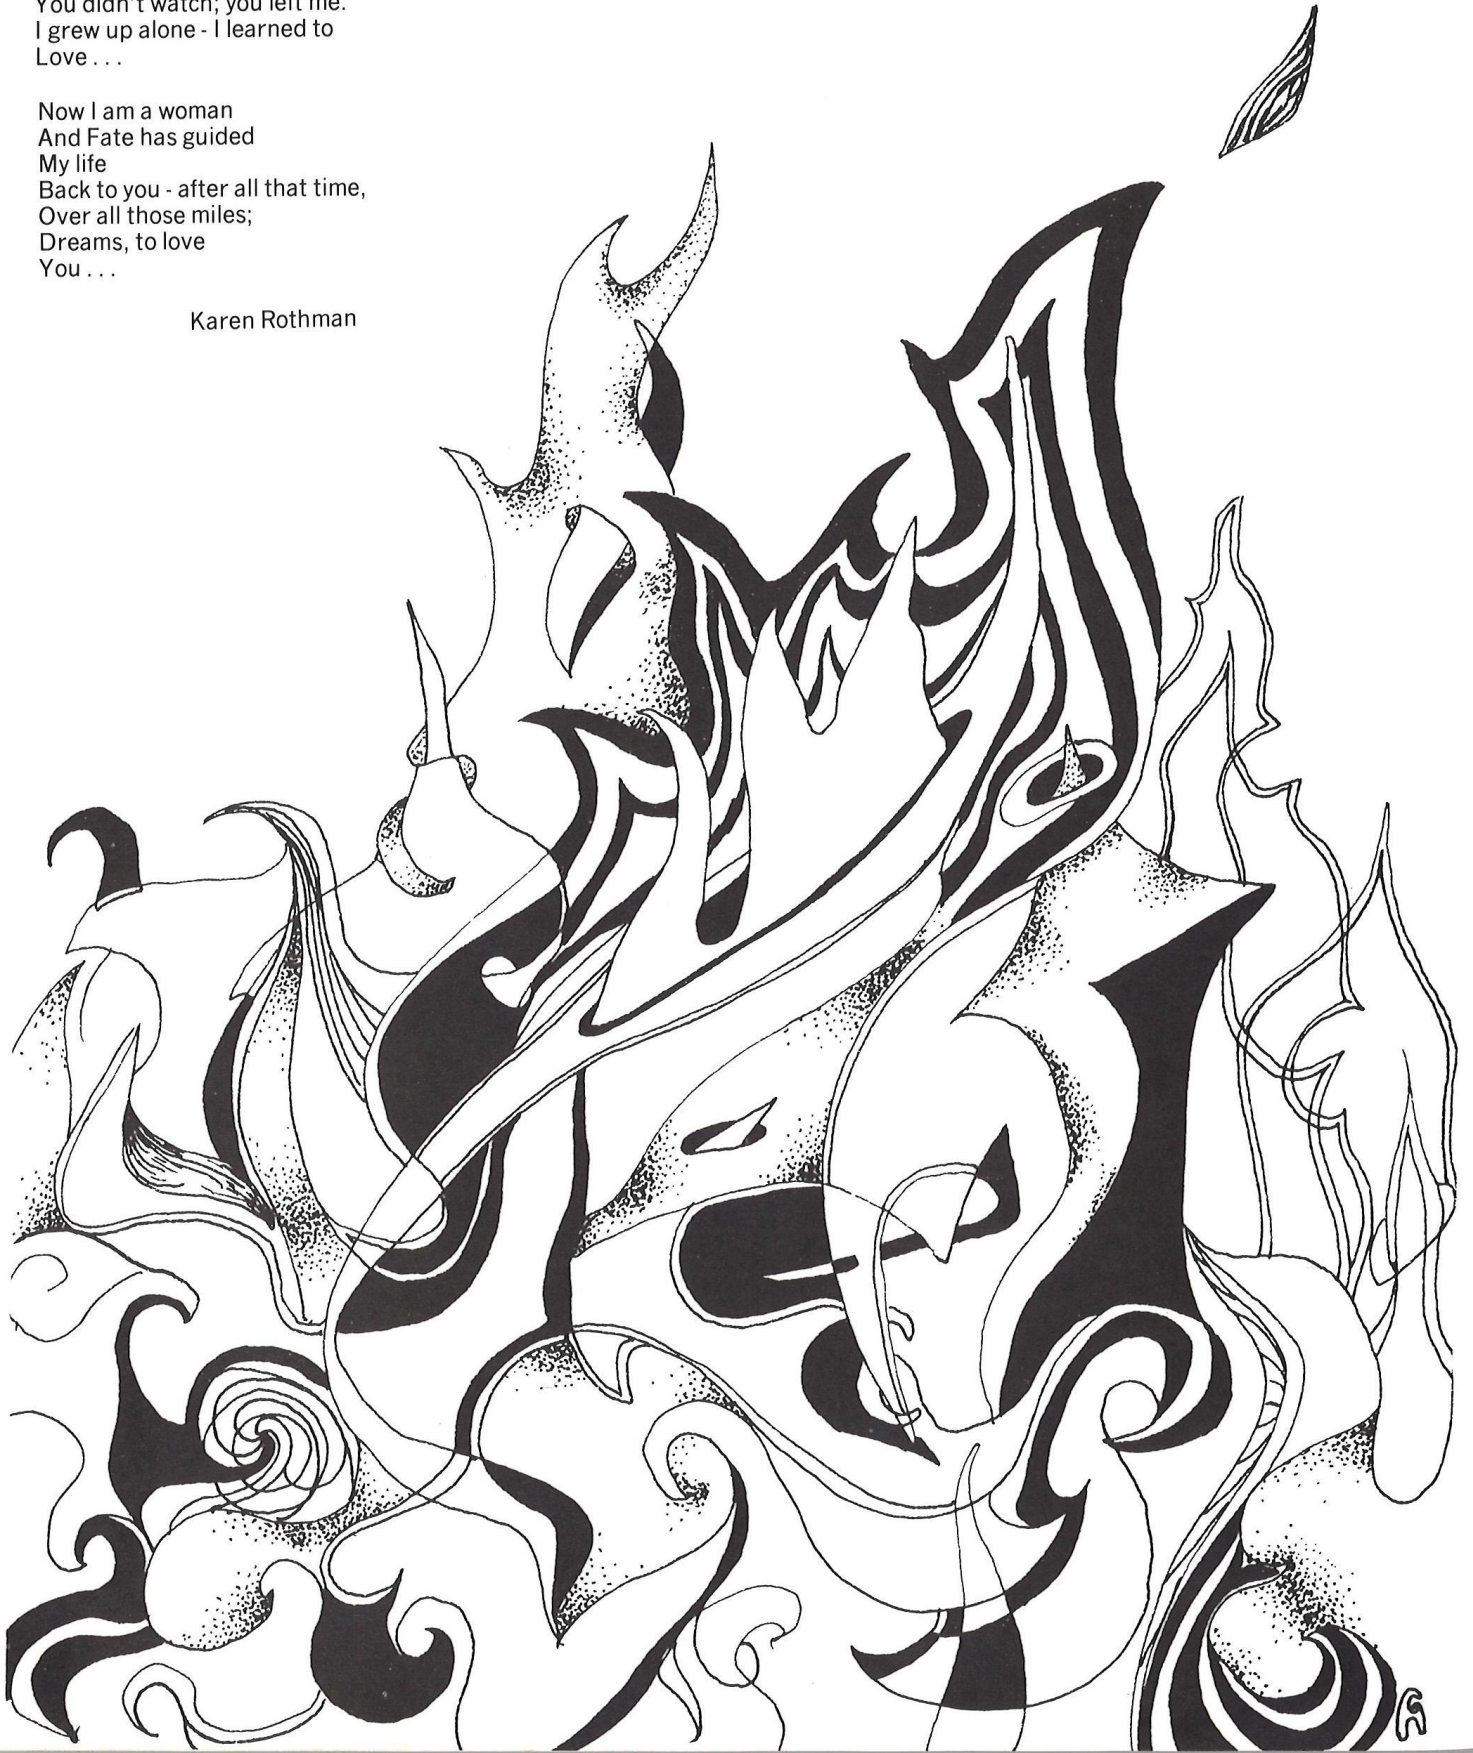

Once I was a little girl
Who had yet to taste life.
Living was
Laughing, telling secrets
And jumping rope.
Then I met you, and Dreams . . .

Once I was a teenager
With clothes and infatuations.
I hurt but it helped me -
You didn't watch; you left me.
I grew up alone - I learned to Love . . .

Now I am a woman
And Fate has guided
My life
Back to you - after all that time,
Over all those miles;
Dreams, to love
You . . .

ACTIVITIES

ELECTIONS 80

History in the MAKING! Candidates, Candidates and more candidates! The enthusiasm and frenzy for this year's electoral campaign were overwhelming. The names shining brightly in the spotlight for presidency included Mark Segal, Michael Salonin and Andy Weinman. The nominees for Vice-Prez were David Chalk, Tommy Bellman and Mona Klinger. Eric Gedajlovic and Allan Feldman ran for treasurer. Banners and posters bearing the names of the myriad candidates contributed to the fervour of the election.

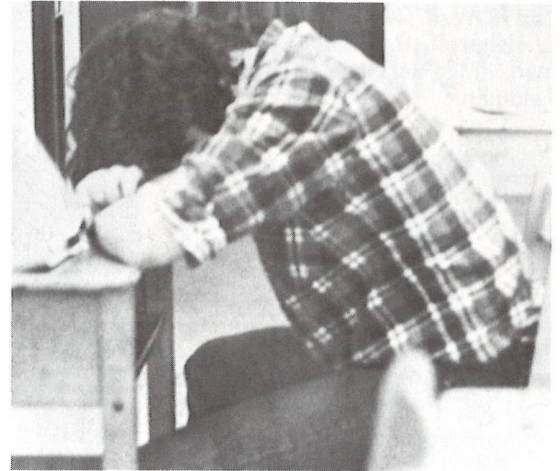

STUDENT COUNCIL EXECUTIVE: Mr. Feigen, Advisor; A. Feldman, Treasurer; M. Salonin, Secretary; M. Segal, Prez; D. Chalk, Vice-Prez.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PREZ

In spite of the activity-paralyzing teachers' strike, the Wagar Student Council succeeded in adding a little something extra to the school day. Traditional events like the Winter Carnival went on as planned and new events, namely the Battle of the Bands and Halloween Day proved to be equally successful.

The Student Council was active politically throughout the year. This entailed the representation of students as part of the administration, at parent committees and the Central Student Council. We investigated student complaints and sought to place student welfare as a major factor in administrative decisions.

There were many people involved in making the Wagar Student Council 1980 a more powerful and representative body of the students. They deserve our sincerest thanks: Mr. Feigen, our devoted advisor, who worked tirelessly to guide us along the right path; David Chalk who followed the line of Wagar vice-presidents with strange and new ideas; Allan Feldman whose capacity as treasurer is endless. Special thanks to the Wagarites who worked on the many activities and to the teachers who helped them despite labour problems. However, credit must be given to the entire student body without whom 1980 would never have been the rich and active year it was.

Our President at Work . . .

Mark Segal

VICE-PRESIDENT'S REPORT

This year has been a mixed bag for the Wagar Student Council. I feel we offered students more and better activities than the past 3 years. The attendance at the 2 school dances were more than doubled. The Battle of the Bands was established and past traditions were successfully continued. Our failings have been in the area of organization as we weren't elected until late Sept. and it was difficult to get class reps involved. We hope to rectify this by getting next year's council elected in May, giving them the summer to plan programs. We are considering the abolishment of class reps, replacing them with "class presidents" who would be required to have a class project which deals with public service or school improvement. Every grade would be represented on the executive by a level rep elected by the class presidents. With this new structure and increased participation by students, the future looks rosy for Wagar. I'd like to thank the administration for their cooperation, the office staff and Mr. Feigen whose hard work and perseverance was above and beyond the call of duty. Most of all, my thanks to the student body for allowing me to work as their Vice-President. It has been a most valuable and enriching experience, one which I will treasure.

David Chalk

FROM THE TREASURER'S DESK

1979-80 proved to be a very financially successful year for the Student Council. We started off in good shape, receiving over $1800 from chocolate bars and activity fees. The money was wisely spent on dances, ski trips, carnival events and cheaper buttons as well as much needed improvements for Radio Wagar equipment. We were also able to give a Christmas party for Royal Arthur Elementary School. All in all, it was one of the council's best years and I wish the new student council all the best in making their year even better.

GRADUATING CLASS ORGANIZATION

G.C.O. worked very arduously and successfully to accomplish the various goals set forth at the beginning of the year. Wagarites of all ages sported attractive V-neck school sweaters and became involved with the sale of chocolate bars in support of the grads. Fun was had by all as the dancers rocked to the music for eight consecutive hours at GCO's 2nd annual dance marathon. Despite the price of gold and silver in 1979-80, graduates continued the tradition of purchasing grad rings. On May 8, graduates will dine and dance at the Chateau Champlain. Special thanks to Mme. Henry who devoted so much of her priceless advice and time to the G.C.O.

GUY'S BEAUTY PAGEANT

Over 400 sat with their mouths opened as the greatly anticipated pageant got under way. The curtains opened with 19 Wagar transvestites dancing to "Bad Girls" by Donna Summers. A movie of the "girls" relaxing in their swimwear at the tropical resort of Wagar Falls (yes folks - the girls' locker showers!) was shown to the audience. The contestants proved to be multi-talented as they rollerskated and stripped. Stunning Paris originals were worn with elegance by the girls and were commented by Hanna Cymbalista. Judges Rodriguez, Levine, Press and Ioannou chose Miss Hawaii (Jeff Ryer) as the winner after the 3 competitions. Runners up were: Miss Jamaica, Earl Diamond, Miss Biafra, Jeff Rubin and Bo Derek/Miss USA, Derek Greenberg. Thanks to MCs Sheryl Waxman, Jane Feldman and Jennie Litvack for putting the show together and Michael Cherna, Mitchell Fagan and Mr. Feigen for their help with the movie and music.

MISS HAWAII

PUNK DAY - On Sept. 14, eight gr. 11 guys declared Punk Day at Wagar High. Cries of "Punk off" and "It's the punk parade" were bellowed by the punkers who stormed the halls wearing goggles, helmets and hundreds of safety pins! When asked why they dressed in that odd fashion, Lorne Orleans and Bobby Arbess shouted, "PUNK lives at WAGAR!!!" Other punkers were Jeff Bell, Neil Weinstein, Eddy Wasser, Earl Diamond, Stephen Kirstein and Cliff Margolese. NERD DAY - Billy Bloom, Harold Wiesenfeld, Lorn Orleans, Jeff Copoloff and Bobby Arbess were some of the exclusive participants who created the innovative idea for Wagar's 1st annual Nerd Day. The Nerds sported unfashionable ties, flooded parts, hornrimmed glasses and other most sought-after articles by the jet set of Wagar! And so began the school year 80!

1st ROW: J. Lechter, D. Chalk, L. Severs, A. Feldman, Stowaway 1, J. Kronick, Stowaways 2 and 3, G. Davis, M. Sega. 2nd ROW: S. Bloom, E. Lipshitz, S. Klein, M. Salonin, A. Cieply, A. Wiesenfeld, A. Elmoznino.

ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

HALLOWEEN DAY

Boo! Oct. 31/80 was Wagar's 1st Halloween Day. Every homeroom was represented by a few ambitious artists who carefully and creatively carved the class pumpkin. First prize went to the Art hrm who created none other (in this modern day and age) than a PUNKin . . . complete with safety pin and purple hair. Mrs. Rodriguez's gr. 11 Englishers came in second while the musical pumpkin of hrm 319 got 3rd. It was a great effort by all, proving Wagarites have originality and imagination. The theme of spookiness and horror continued after school as the "House that Dripped Blood" was shown to a full house of thrill seekers. Attendance records were broken at the Halloween dance concluding an excellent day of fun.

THE KING AND I

Put on a play as demanding as The King and I at Wagar? Impossible? NO! Thanks to the effort and the enthusiasm of the cast, some 80 strong, this play can easily be deemed a success. All involved with it, on stage or off, deserve a round of applause for a job well done!

Wagar's 1980 Reach for the Top team broke a 5 year losing streak with two spectacular wins over Father MacDonald, 445-375, and Loyola, 445-390. The Wagar audience were ecstatic when their team triumphed a second time with the SAME score! The third game and league finals will go down in Wagar history as the most exciting game ever. The team's opponent, Malcom Campbell, got an early lead in the game, increasing and maintaining it until the final 2 minutes when the short snappers came up. Gaining 55 points, during this period, Wagar took the lead and Wagarites literally sat on the edge of their seats, squealing as our points piled up. However, the clock ran out and our points piled up. However, the clock ran out and Wagar lost - 435-440. Words cannot express how proud we all are of our team; they brought back Wagar's honour and more importantly, the school spirit.

Jennie Litvack

So close and yet so far . . . That's the feeling among Wagar's Reach for the Top team and coaches. Just as in Thayer's "Casey at the Bat", the Good guys (that's us) caught up from a huge lead only to lose it in the dying seconds of the game. Defeat was not so unbearable for team members as we did reach the league finals. There was a feeling of comraderie between us which extended to the entire student body. Student enthusiasm and size at the games were tremendous. Many people must be thanked for their contributions to the success of the team: our coaches, Mrs. Sherman and Mrs. Rosenfeld, student coaches Clifford Moss and David Chalk and ex-Reach for the Topper, Hillel Rosen. Despite our defeat, we have the personal satisfaction of knowing that our 1st win has given next year's team the chance to REACH FOR THE TOP!

At the beginning of the school year, a group of students decided Wagar needed a newspaper. After lengthy discussions with Mr. Ioannou about previous and future editions, we were determined to put out the best paper possible. It took a high degree of organization but it was the quality and creativity of this staff with the support of Mr. Ioannou which made it possible for us to print a paper we could be proud of.

The running of the Lion brought new experiences to the staff. The extra hours, the anguish of missed deadlines and the frustrations of inexperience were well worth the product we achieved. However, the apathy of the students made it hard for us to be motivated.

Finally, the staff would like to thank the Suburban, Dr. de Groot and Mr. Ioannou for enabling us to take part in this novel experience.

BATTLE OF THE BANDS

ROYAL FAMILY

Their Majesties; Clifford Margolese and Brenda Levine. Their highnesses, Biff Blond and Amy Brownstein. Court jester, Barry Goodman, was busy fooling around.

Winter Carnival 80 was a busy week from Feb 29-Mar 7. It began with a dance, the most successful in Wagar history. The band, "Inner Visions" with Wagar's Jody Taiger singing, attracted over 1/2 the school as well as many outsiders. With the admission being the wearing of the carnival button, Wagarites made the night a great triumph. But then again, they say strange things happen on leap years (Good luck to class 84). Highlights of the week were the crowning of the royal family and the male beauty pageant. The 1st annual "Battle of the Bands" was hosted by David Chalk and Lorne Orleans + harmonica. There were 4 bands competing: Brussel Sprouts and Mussel Strings; the 21st Century; City Bume and the winner - American Dream. This rock band included 4 ex-Wagarites! Pat McGuire, the famed hypnotist, put on a show to a packed house. Among the most entertaining hypnotized Wagarites were: Jody Brandman with her imitation of Mr. Fiegan; Claude Benoit counting 11 fingers on his hands, winning the gogo dance and imitating Miss Apanier; Richard Lipman as an army sargeant. Jeff Copoloff (better known to most J.C. Jazz) hosted the variety show wearing boxer shorts, tuxedo and loafers. The carnival concluded with a ski trip to Jay Peak, Vt. The freshly fallen snow and sunshine was made for a beautiful day of skiing and fun.

SNOW BOWL CHAMPIONS

After much preparation, Wagar's Warrior football team savagely attacked Bialik and triumphed with a 3-0 victory in the 2nd annual snowbowl game. The winning points were made in the 3rd quarter with a sensational field goal by Philip Dahan. Mark Segal was voted the most valuable player for Wagar as he made two spectacular interceptions., The offense was led by the in-depth play-calling of Russell Kirstein. Defense was headed by Derek Greenberg. the game was a success in all facets and everyone involved had a great time. The team would like to thank coaches Mr. Levine and Mr. Loctie for their help with the game. Congratulations to: Russell Kirstein, Derek Greenberg, Philip Dahan, Sheldon Goldberg, David Gottlieb, Bruce Kahn, Andy Weinman, Eric Black, Jack Ross, Gregory Golding, David Cohen, Jeff Gordensky, Mitchell Lash, Mark Segal, Rob Michlen, David Bornstein and Lenny Eickler.

MUSIC MAKERS

"DON'T B SHARP, DON'T B FLAT, JUST B NATURAL"

This has been a year of transition for the Wagar Music department. The year brought a new band director, Mr. Grysok, with the departure of Mr. Ranti after leading the bands for 10 years. The adjustment has been difficult but the situation has been improving throughout the year.

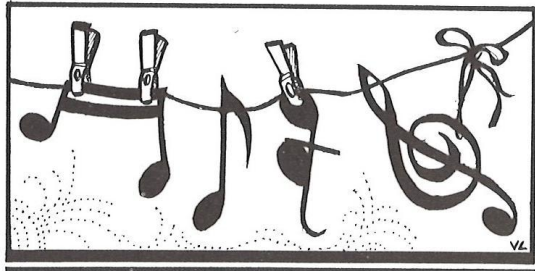

"The Joy of Sax."

Members witnessed an all-time high when we performed in a N.Y. State Competition in April/79. We wanted the same enthusiasm, dedication and performance for 1980. The year took off with a huge bottle drive and weekly donut sales, raising over $500. The catalyst for every year has been the annual spring band exchange program. This year, we tried to work one out with a Bostonian high school but due to the year's extenuating circumstances, it doesn't look possible. Lunchtime practices of new material has improved the 3 bands. Christmas concerts at Royal Arthur and Wagar were both successes. My good wishes to future bands with the hope that our year has paved the way to a successful transition in Wagar's Music department.

The winner of the course is the racer with the best time. One victory which deserves recognition is that of Peter Lakatos and Gary Oberman. Inspired by the nylons, this club, specializing in Acapella, have already done 9 stage parties, a briss and many command performances in the girls' bathroom at lunch! Next month, they will feature their hit single "Pure as Silk" while jumping out of an 8 ft. cake with vanilla icing.

As of yet, only one field trip, to the Weather Bureau of Canada in Dorval, have been made by the club. A second trip is planned for a tour of the PSBGM computer facilities. Members are given access to the HP2000 and the Univac 90/60. Executive members include Avrum Warshawsky, treasurer, and Timothy Cherna, secretary. Bi-monthly meetings involve discussions on breeding, care, trades and the natural relaxation of watching fish. Donations of tanks, fish or any other related equipment are welcomed by the club. The members are anxious to aid others in choosing and setting up their new tanks. So, if you are allergic to dogs, cats, tarantulas or snakes, buy a pet fish and join the club.

CHESS CLUB

What has Mr. Said been doing behind the closed doors of Room 210 during every lunch hour this year?! Why, he's been running Wagar's Chess Club of course!!! This club consists mainly of the little pawns of Wagar (Grade 7's, 8's and 9's) because the older bishops, kings and queens (Grade 10's and 11's) are usually busy with band, sports or some other fund raising activities. The club is always open to new members to practise their game, listen to Mr. Said's expert advice and hopefully enter a tournament. One person who deserves special recognition is that Checkmating King of Wagar, Vidyader Kachroo, who has already won many professional tournaments.

SPORTS

JUVENILE GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

This year's team is composed of gr. 10 and 11 who in the words of their coach, Mr. Chuprun, "the best volleyball team I've seen in a long time playing together." Despite the loss of 2 matches, Wagar has the potential to win other tournaments, one of which will be held on their home court.

JUVENILE BOYS VOLLEYBALL

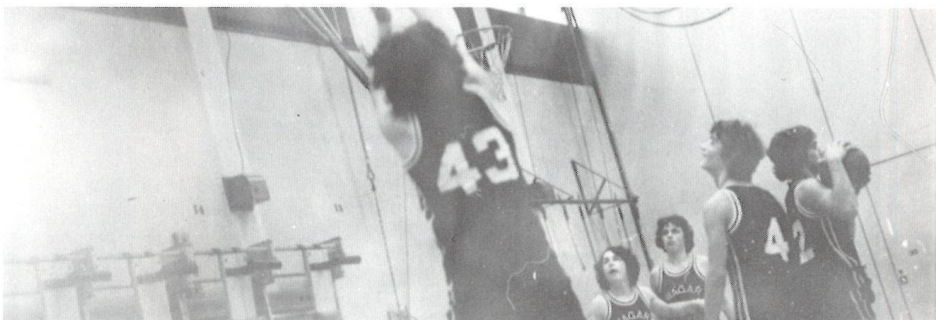

Exciting and action-packed are the only ways to describe the boys' smashing game! However, according to coach Ioannou, there is a problem with the timing of the matches, "A very short season with not enough time to prepare and teach the fundamentals of the game." Last year, Wagar placed third and has a chance of doing equally if not better in 1980.

TOP: G. Walfish, J. Ross, D. Cohen, E. Diamond, Mr. Ioannou. BOTTOM: K. Fainbloom, M. Lash, M. Bohbot, R. Kirstein. ABSENT: B. Kahn.

BASKETBALL

For the Wagar Senior Panthers, the 79/80 season was no different from many others - a lot of talent but eventual defeat. This has been the basic trademark of the club for the past several years. The team enjoyed some success this year by going 9-3 in season play. The season started with a full head of steam as Wagar crushed the Westhill Wings and edged out Cardinal Newman, both were to become eventual play-off contenders. Once again, Neil Fleshner and Dave Cohen were the big guns offensively along with Earl Diamond. As Lloyd Fischler put it, "It was a great season and we couldn't have done it without Izzy Rubin, our manager, and Jim Aitken, our coach." All 3 teams, Bantam, Midget, and Senior, suffered a major setback as the teachers' strike took 3 weeks off their practice and schedule time. The Panthers were hurt by injuries too: Jack Ross suffered a gash in the arm; Jeff Bell who was ill; guards Lloyd Fischer and Mitchell Stotland hobbled about on bad ankles. Guided by Don McEwen, the Midget Panthers compiled a 6-6 record. This club showed a lot of potential and have many players destined for the Seniors next year. Mr. Cool, better known as Alan Taylor, took a group of 7 and 8, doing his best to make winners out of them. Their record was 3-9.

Mr. Chuprun, coach for the team, summed up their performance, "A very much improved team but unfortunately with the strike, the season was cut short. We could've won at least two more games." Players share the same sentiments and are confident that next year's team will have an even more successful season. Captain Randy Margolese added, "The season was unfinished but I'd like to thank all the veterans who played their best and last year: Dini 'Mighty Mouse' Rappaport, Debbie 'Thumbs' Miller and Debbie 'Animal' Richter."

NEXT YEAR'S SPORTS

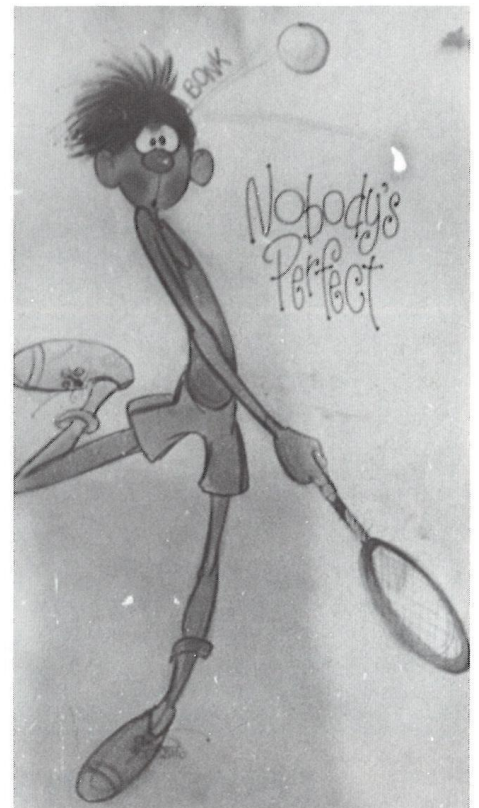

"On ne récolte pas ce qu'on n'a pas semé".

What's in store for 1980-81 Wagarites in their Sports department? Who KNOWS!

Once again, this year's sport season did not include hockey, baseball or football teams. And whose fault is this? Certainly not the administration nor the Phys Ed faculty! It is due to a lack of participation and interest on the part of the students.

There seemed to be an overwhelming number of Wagarities interested in reviving hockey at Wagar but "interested" was all they were. Being simply interested is not enough - you, the ambitious sports-minded student, must push for the sports you want if they are to materialize at Wagar!

The next school year is only a few months away and if Wagarites would like to participate in sports which were not part of the 1980 season, NOW is the time to act! With increased participation and variety of sports at Wagar, its teams will surely bring home many wins!

The Wagar Track and Field team showed great promise this year and proved to be very tough competitors. Don McEwen was track coach and, just as he did for basketball, donated much of his free time to the team.

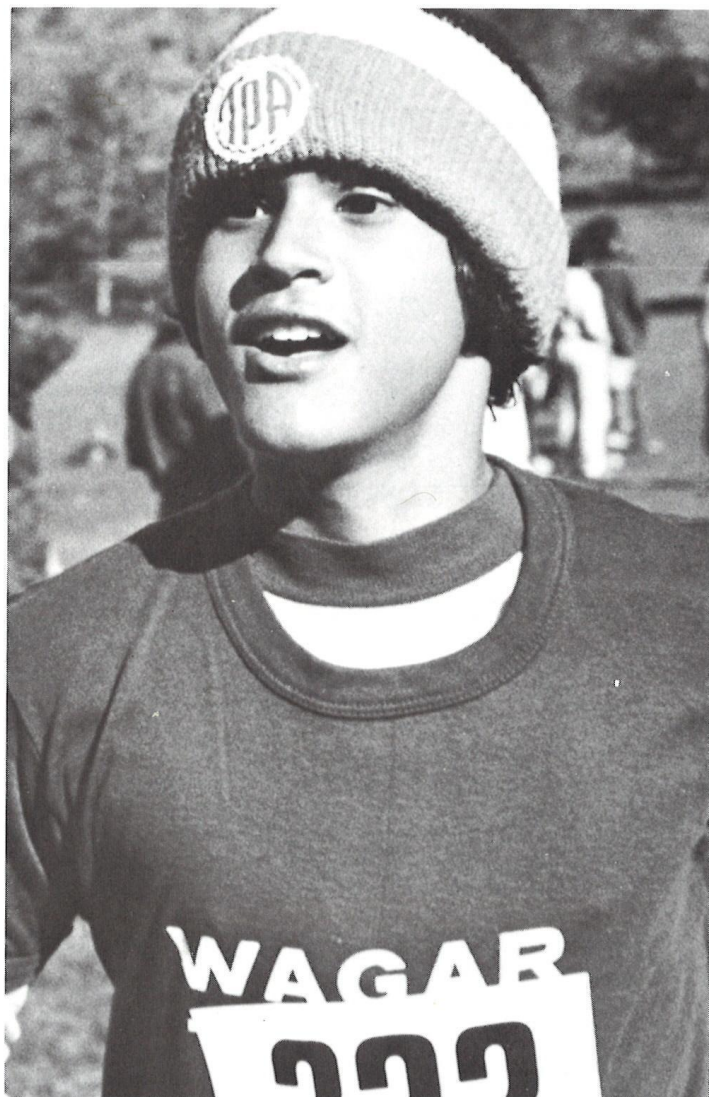

The basic events in which the team participated were shotput, hurdles and triple jump. The team fared rather well but according to Bruce Kahn, member, they could still use some improvement. The team did bring some prestige to Wagar when they worked voluntarily in various capacities at the World Cup trackmeet at the Big O and at the Belgium-Canada meet at the Montreal Forum.

SOCCER

Coach Chris Ioannou is not to be blamed for the Wagar soccer teams' poor showing of 0 wins, 8 losses and 1 tie. Apparently, the club was placed in the Juvenile division when in fact, they should've been in Bantam. Taking that into consideration, the club should be congratulated for sticking it out all season and for obtaining a tie. According to numerous players, the interest just wasn't there. Soccer is an enjoyable sport which more Wagarites should try so give it a shot next year!

JUVENILE BOYS SOCCER: 1st ROW: Mr. Ioannou, Coach, J. Lechter, J. Kader, J. Yulis, E. Morris, D. Sebbag, S. Moulavi, G. Sparagis, E. Lagacé. 2nd ROW: I. Yulis, S. Rosen, M. Bohbot, B. Ratner, Y. Saleh.

acknowledgements

Prelude 1980 was an accomplishment of not only its staff but also of many Wagarites and teachers who contributed so much of their time and energy in making this edition of the yearbook a success.

Special thanks to Mrs. Pat Rodriguez and Mrs. Ann Rubenstein, our advisors, for patiently correcting "literally" hundreds of copy sheets and sitting through endless financial meetings respectively. Although new at the job, their enthusiasm saw us through many crises; we deeply appreciate their support and counsel. We are grateful to Mr. Terry Chuprun who was kind enough to photograph and print those beautiful pictures for our sports section. We would also like to thank Mrs. Norma Holmes and Mrs. Betty Rudd as well as the entire office staff for allowing us to constantly borrow their equipment.

To Steve Weeks of National School Services for pulling us through our many missed deadlines and the 10%: we could not have done it without your explanations. Our thanks to the advertisers and patrons whose contributions helped finance the book.

Most of all, we would like to express our gratitude and admiration to the Wagar student body for resuming school activities despite the strike, giving us a bigger and better Prelude.
