Capturing all the memories and placing them in this yearbook was not an easy task. In fact, at times it was more difficult than one can imagine. We hope the time, effort and dedication invested by the entire staff to produce this yearbook will be apparent when it is read. It was both an honour and pleasure to work on this book.

We, the editors and the staff, would like to dedicate the Prelude '89 in honour of the memory of Mrs. Elsie Sherman, cherished colleague, teacher and yearbook advisor of Wagar.

*Gretchen Lee.
Toky Achtman*

This year's Prelude is very special as it marks the 25th. Anniversary of Wagar High School. Throughout the years over 7000 students have gone forward to become contributory members of the communities in which they live.

Those of you who are leaving Wagar this year will become members of that growing alumnus. You have had the good fortune in having the leadership of cheerful, enthusiastic and hard working teachers. We in turn are pleased to have worked with a promising and receptive group of young people. It is hoped that our collective efforts will enable you to leave this school prepared to meet the challenges that lay ahead for you.

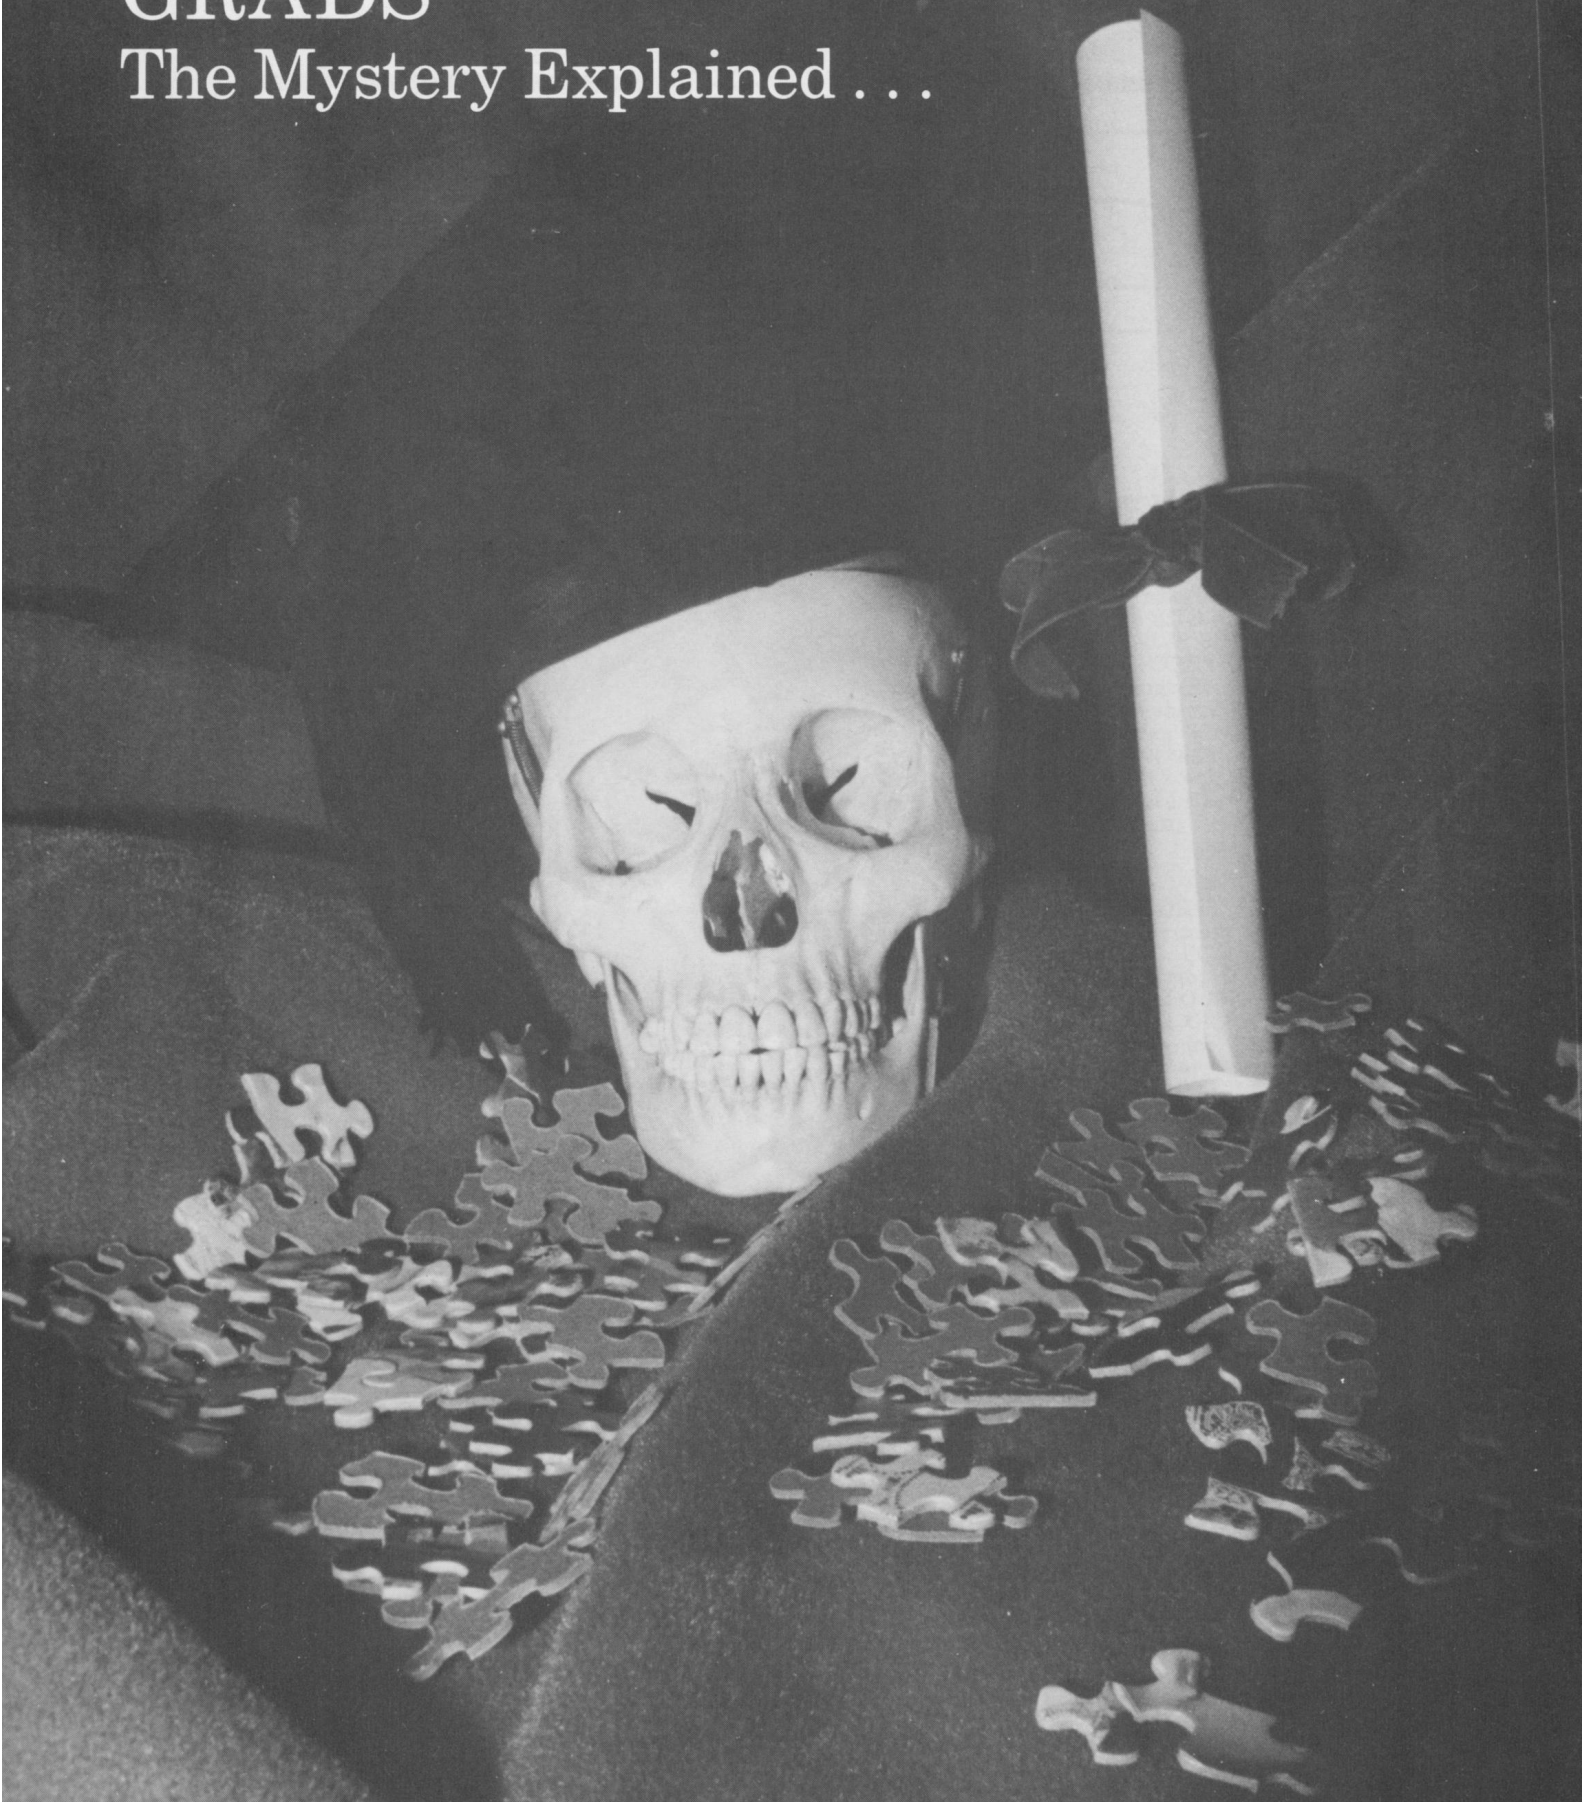

I congratulate each and everyone of you for your part in making 1988-89 a memorable year at Wagar. I wish to extend best wishes for happiness and success to all students who will not be with us again next year.

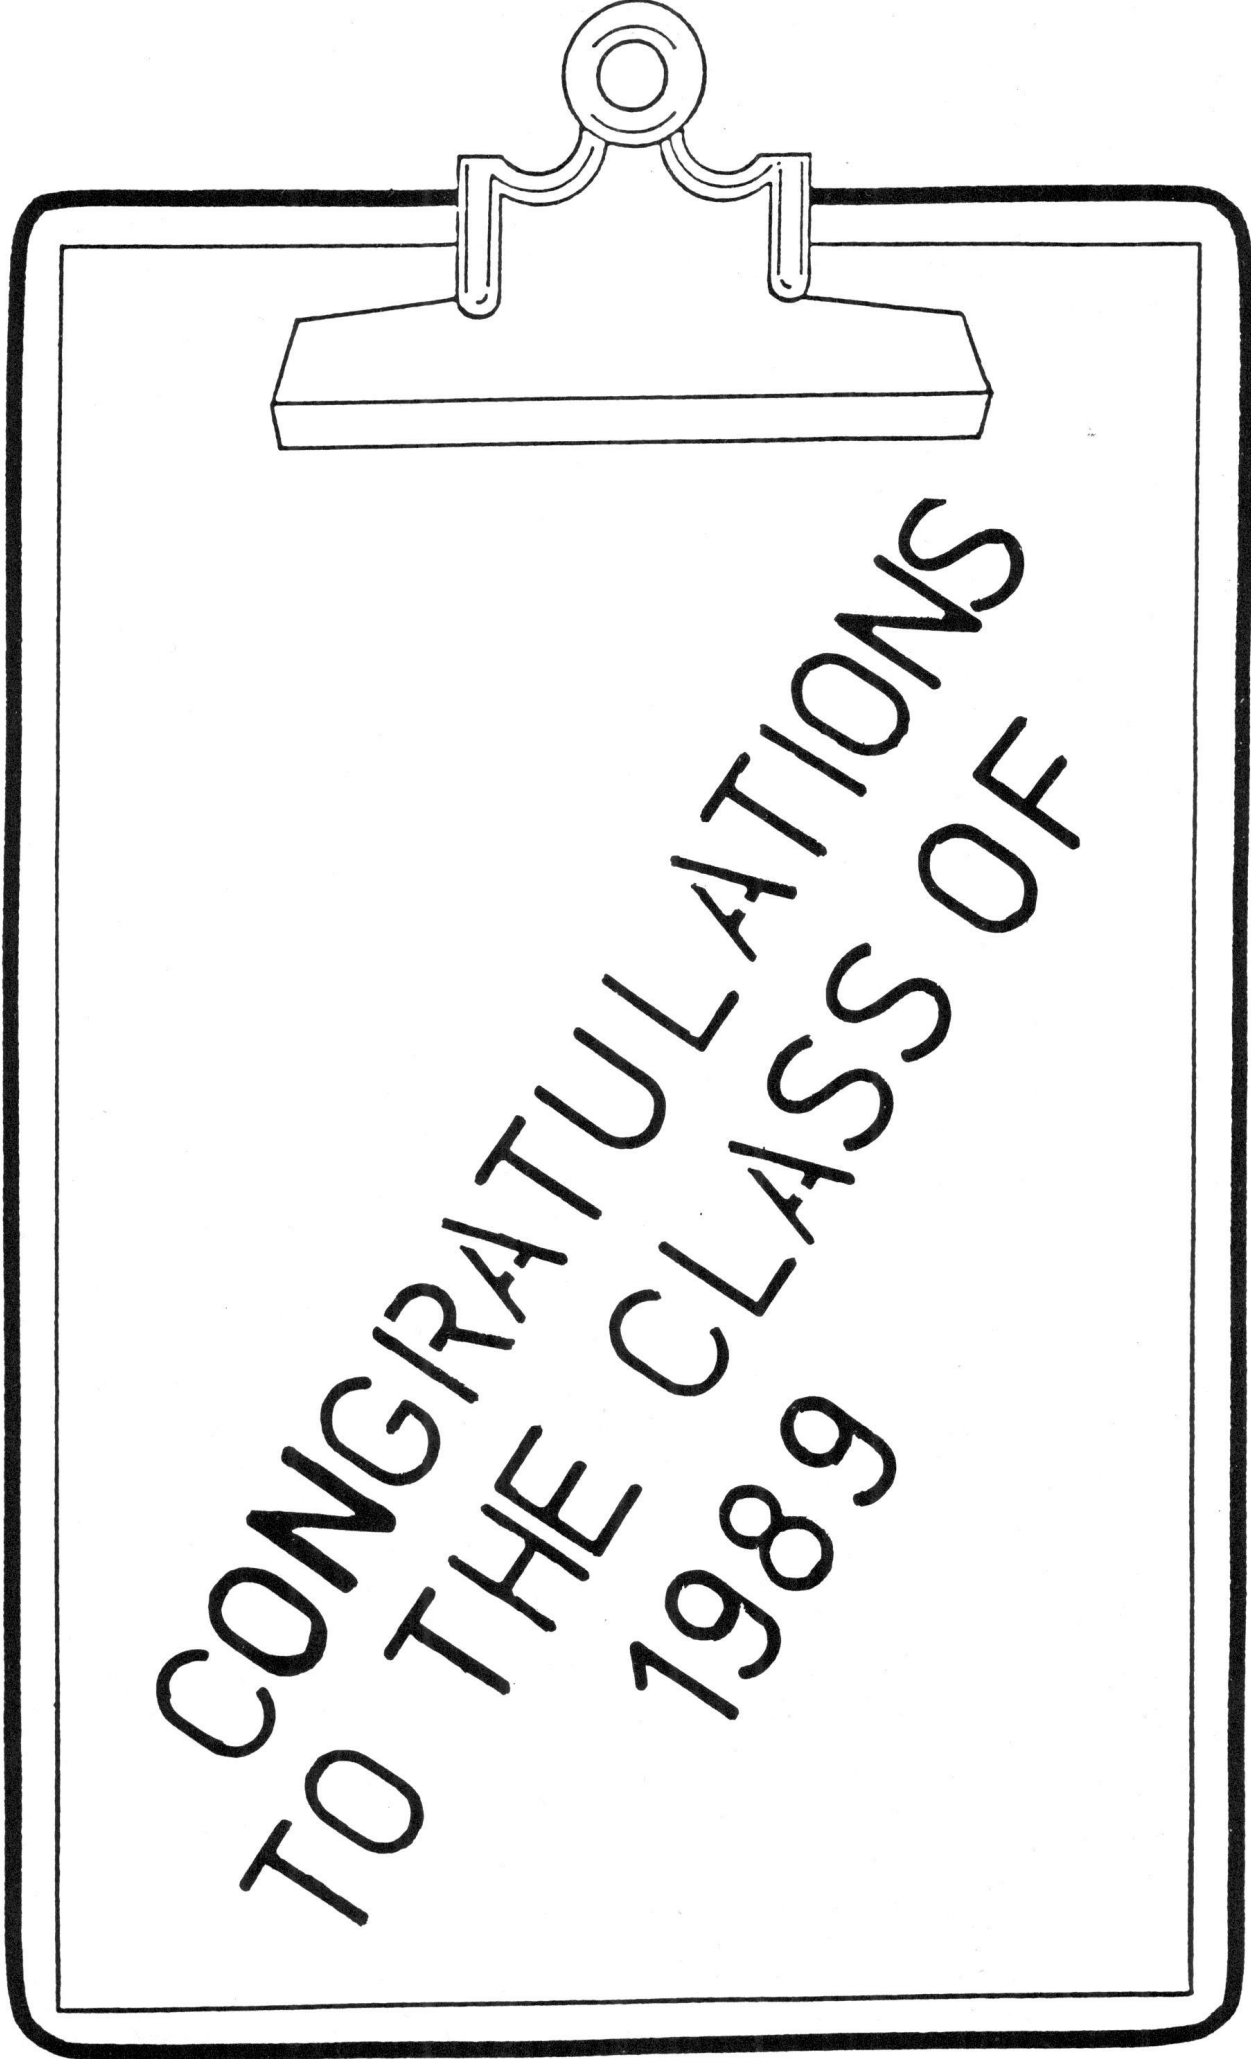

In closing may I compliment and thank most sincerely the Editors, members of the Editorial Board and Staff Advisors for their excellent work in the preparation of this Annual.

ITALY TRIP

LONDON TRIP

THE FIRST STEPS WE TOOK WERE WITH THE RIGHT FEET.
WE ARRIVED IN LONDON AT THE CRACK OF DAWN.
WE LEFT OUR STUFF IN THE HOTEL AND THEN ENTERED A
CAFE "DAY AND NIGHT"
IGOR GREETED US AT THE DOOR AND SERVED US STUFF THAT CAME RIGHT OFF THE FLOOR.
WE SAT FOR HOURS THEN TOOK SHOWERS.
WE SHOPPED FOR DAYS AND SAW PLAYS AT NIGHT.
THE PICTURES WE TOOK ARE OUT OF SIGHT.
OUR TOURS WERE GOOD, STRATFORD WAS A BLAST.
THE TIRING RIDE HOME DIDN'T GO FAST.
ALL IN ALL WE HAD A GREAT TIME.
THANKS TO ALL THE TEACHERS!

LONDON '88:

Karine Abecasis, Susan Aronavitch, Tammi Cohen, Jessika Diamond, Dara Fleischer, Elanna Furman, Doug Hartt, Jamie Hartt, Jason Kasner, Michelle Kaufman, Kevin McCoy, Yael Ohnona, Jen Olders, Danielle Prinsky, Jeff Pulituskier, Dan Shporer, Corey Tupper

STRATFORD TRIP

The wheels of the bus go round and round. And round. And round. And round yet again, for eight hours straight, with the exception of a short stop outside Kingston, at a Mcdonalds that hasn't done business since the last Stratford trip. Our faithful bus driver, Marcel, delivered us to 123 Albert Place, the most exclusive hotel in all of Stratford, Ontario. We saw three plays during our trip; My Fair Lady (fun, but never ending), a modern version of Taming of the Shrew (very entertaining), and Two Gentlemen of Verona (YAWN!) The 1988 Stratford Festival (or should we say shopping festival?) was highlighted by many a non-academic event. Sleeping? What's that? And many "Do you remembers?" Such as Cory roaming the halls with his glass of "scope", Tania's surprise 17th birthday party (which lasted all of 10 minutes), Tim Horton's, Michael S. getting caught in the bar downstairs, Miss Rosenberg roaming the halls in her multi-colored robe (my kingdom for a pair of sunglasses). And last but not least, Avrom and Michael R.'s "bathtub goodies". Miss Rosenberg, Miss Karp, thanx for the great trip.

STUDENT COUNCIL MESSAGE

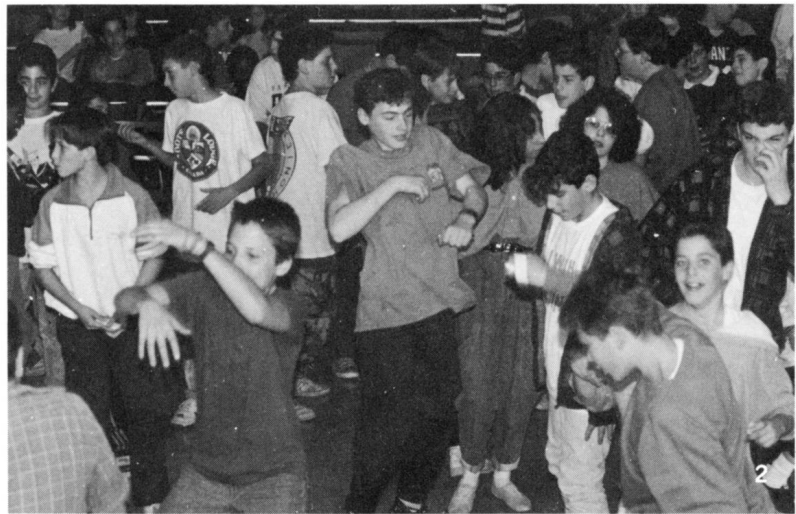

Do you know us? Most of Wagar's students don't. We're your hard working Student Council Executive, and unlike our fellow politicians (Fidel Castro, Yasser Arafat, Muammer Khadafi, Brian Mulroney, etc . . .), we don't get half the media attention we deserve.

In Wagar's twenty-fifth year, we were proud to have brought the students all the fun they deserved. Dances, in the Wagar tradition, were chaotic pleasure parties (whips, chips, chains, dips). Halloween day was a success, allowing students to live out their wildest fantasies. They were able to disguise themselves and terrorize teachers. Many a pumpkin was brutally carved . . . With the Wagar spirit in its current state of frenzy, we are presently anticipating a wild and wonderful Winter Carnival. Many Students were missing the day after the Comedy fest, and some report the absences were due to embarrassment after severe seat wetting. And our tribute to the Chocolate bar sale: John Broadbent, homeroom 203, you STILL owe us $30.00!

Thus, it's been a good year. Thanks to the administration, Mr. Forman, and the student body. If none of you had existed, the year could have been even better . . . Have a safe summer, but make it an enjoyable one.

DAY

A WEEK IN THE LIFE AT WAGAR

ONCE UPON A TIME THERE WAS A BOY WHO BULLIED EVERYONE.

HE WAS ONLY TRYING TO IMPRESS A GROUP OF GIRLS.

THIS SITUATION MADE ALL THE STUDENTS POINT AND LAUGH . . .

ALL THE GIRLS LOVED HIS NEW TRANS-AM THAT HE DROVE.

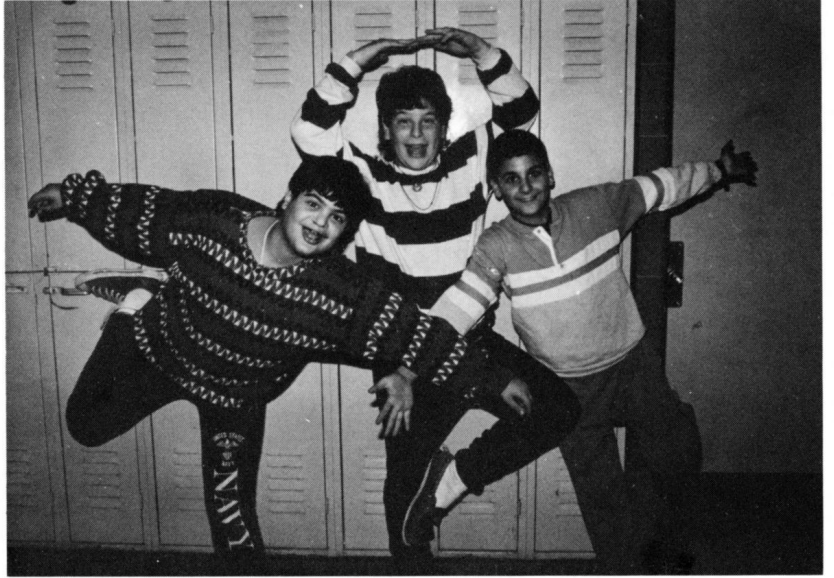

NOW THESE GIRLS CHANGED THEIR MINDS AND DECIDED TO TRY AND PERSUADE THE NEW BOY TO BE THEIR BOYFRIEND

By Avrom Coodin

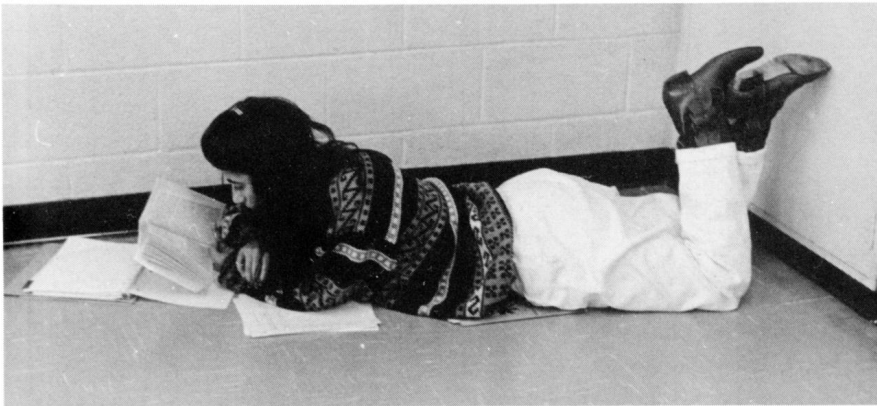

BUT ANOTHER GROUP WHO REALLY LIKED THIS BOY DECIDED TO TRY TO STEAL HIS HEART.

THEY HIRED THREE YOUNG MEN WHO WERE TO MYSTERIOUSLY CONVINCE HIM INTO LIKING THEM.

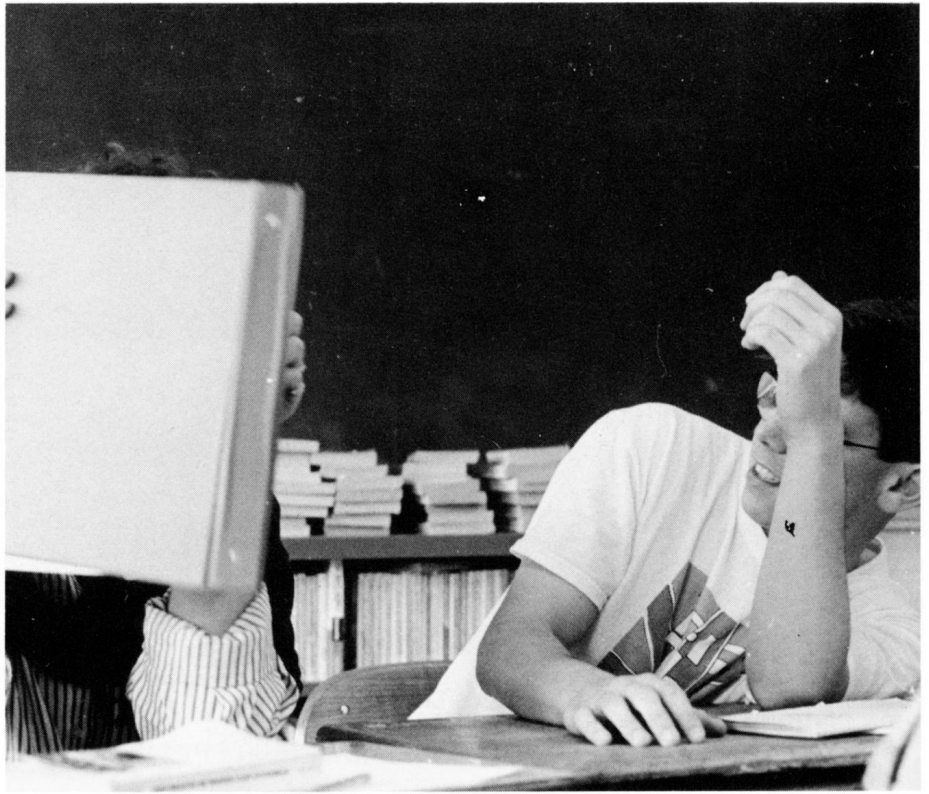

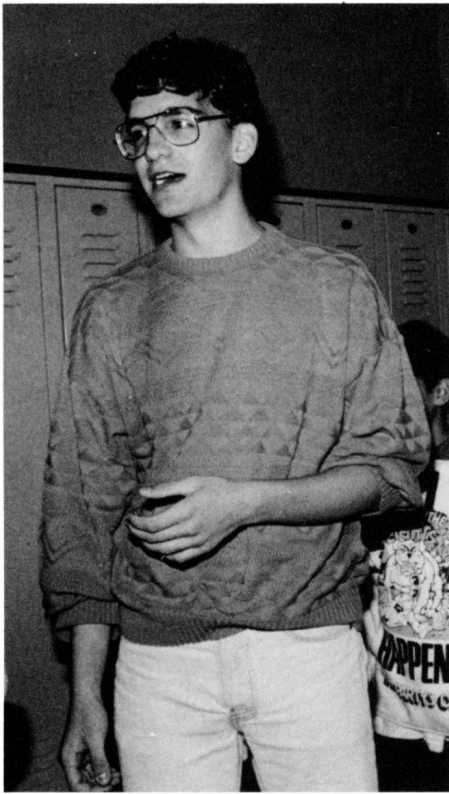

THEN, ONE DAY, A NEW BOY CAME TO SCHOOL AND CAPTURED ALL THE GIRLS' HEARTS.

THEY READ UP AND STUDIED ON SNEAKY AND MYSTERIOUS WAYS OF PERSUASION.

BUT THEY WERE UP AGAINST A LOT OF COMPETITION.

IT WAS NOW THE TALK OF THE SCHOOL.

AND THAT THE NEW "STUD" OF THE SCHOOL HAD TURNED INTO AN UGLY, SLOBBERING MONSTER!

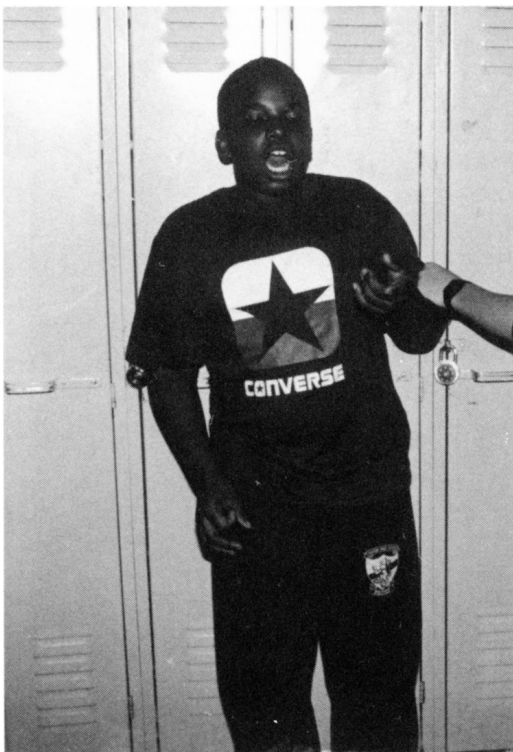

THE SCHOOL WAS IN AN UPROAR! EVERYONE WAS FREAKING OUT!

ONE DAY IN THE CAFETERIA . . .

IT WAS DISCOVERED THAT THE PANZEROTTI WAS POISONOUS!

WHAT HAD HAPPENED JUST COULDN'T BE EXPLAINED.

BUT SOON A NEW BOY CAME ALONG AND THE OLD ONE WAS SOON FORGOTTEN AND LIFE AT WAGAR WENT BACK TO NORMAL.

Grade 7, the year you begin your five year stay, totally naive to what is going on around you; dropping your load of books in the halls, because a senior couldn't see that far down.

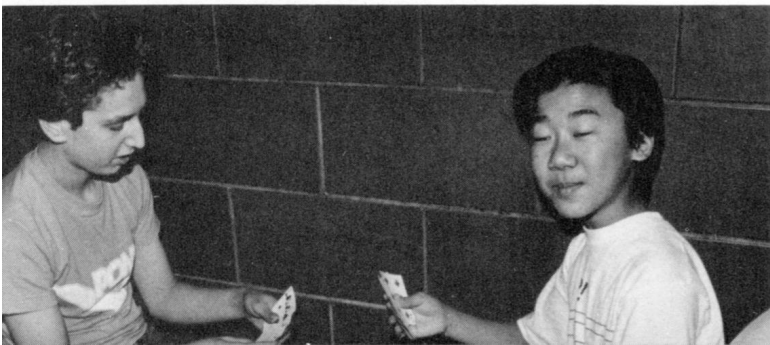

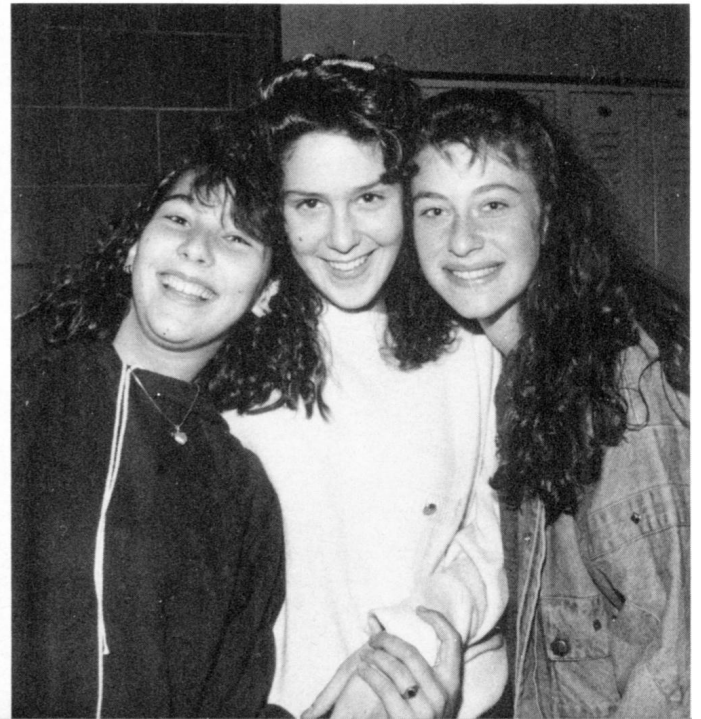

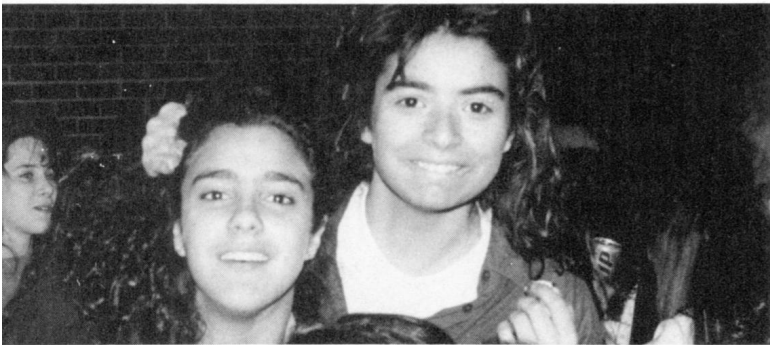

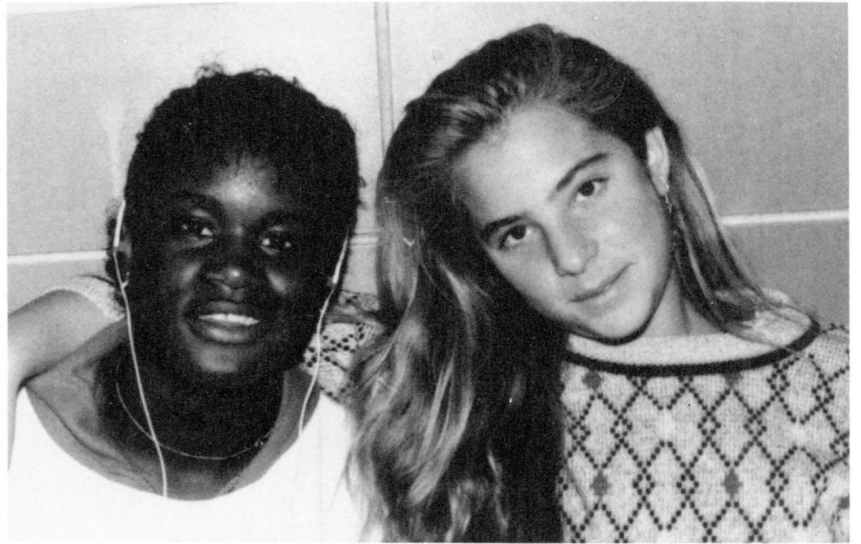

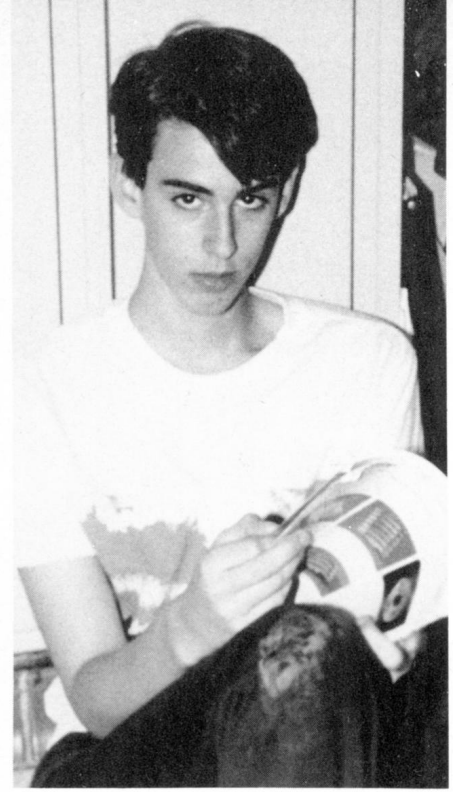

Grade 8, you can finally look down to the little grade 7's and say, "Was I actually that small?", and be thankful that you've finally become the oldest junior grade.

Grade 9, you're finally completely confused. You don't even know if you're on the junior or senior side.

Grade 10, one year away . . . This year you can finally get the ever dreamed of DRIVER'S LICENSE and ". . . ease on down the road . . ." to the many Sweet Sixteens. Best of all, you can finally say,

"Next year we rule the school!"

UGLY CLUB

Sorry about the awful photo, but although it was agreed that these two ugly people, Don and Pete, would not be included in this year's Prelude, they gave us no choice. We tried to explain to them that due to their inclusion the value of Preludes has gone down tremendously over the past few years, but regardless of our plea they began to threaten to paste pictures of themselves all over the school. Finally, Mr. Iannou (our advisor) decided that to include the picture would be in the best interest of all students. Hopefully we will win the fight next year!

Incriminating Evidence . . .

REJECTION

I'm rejected daily by those I love,
By those who's opinions I hold above
Everything else in this world so fair,
Or sometimes not so fair.

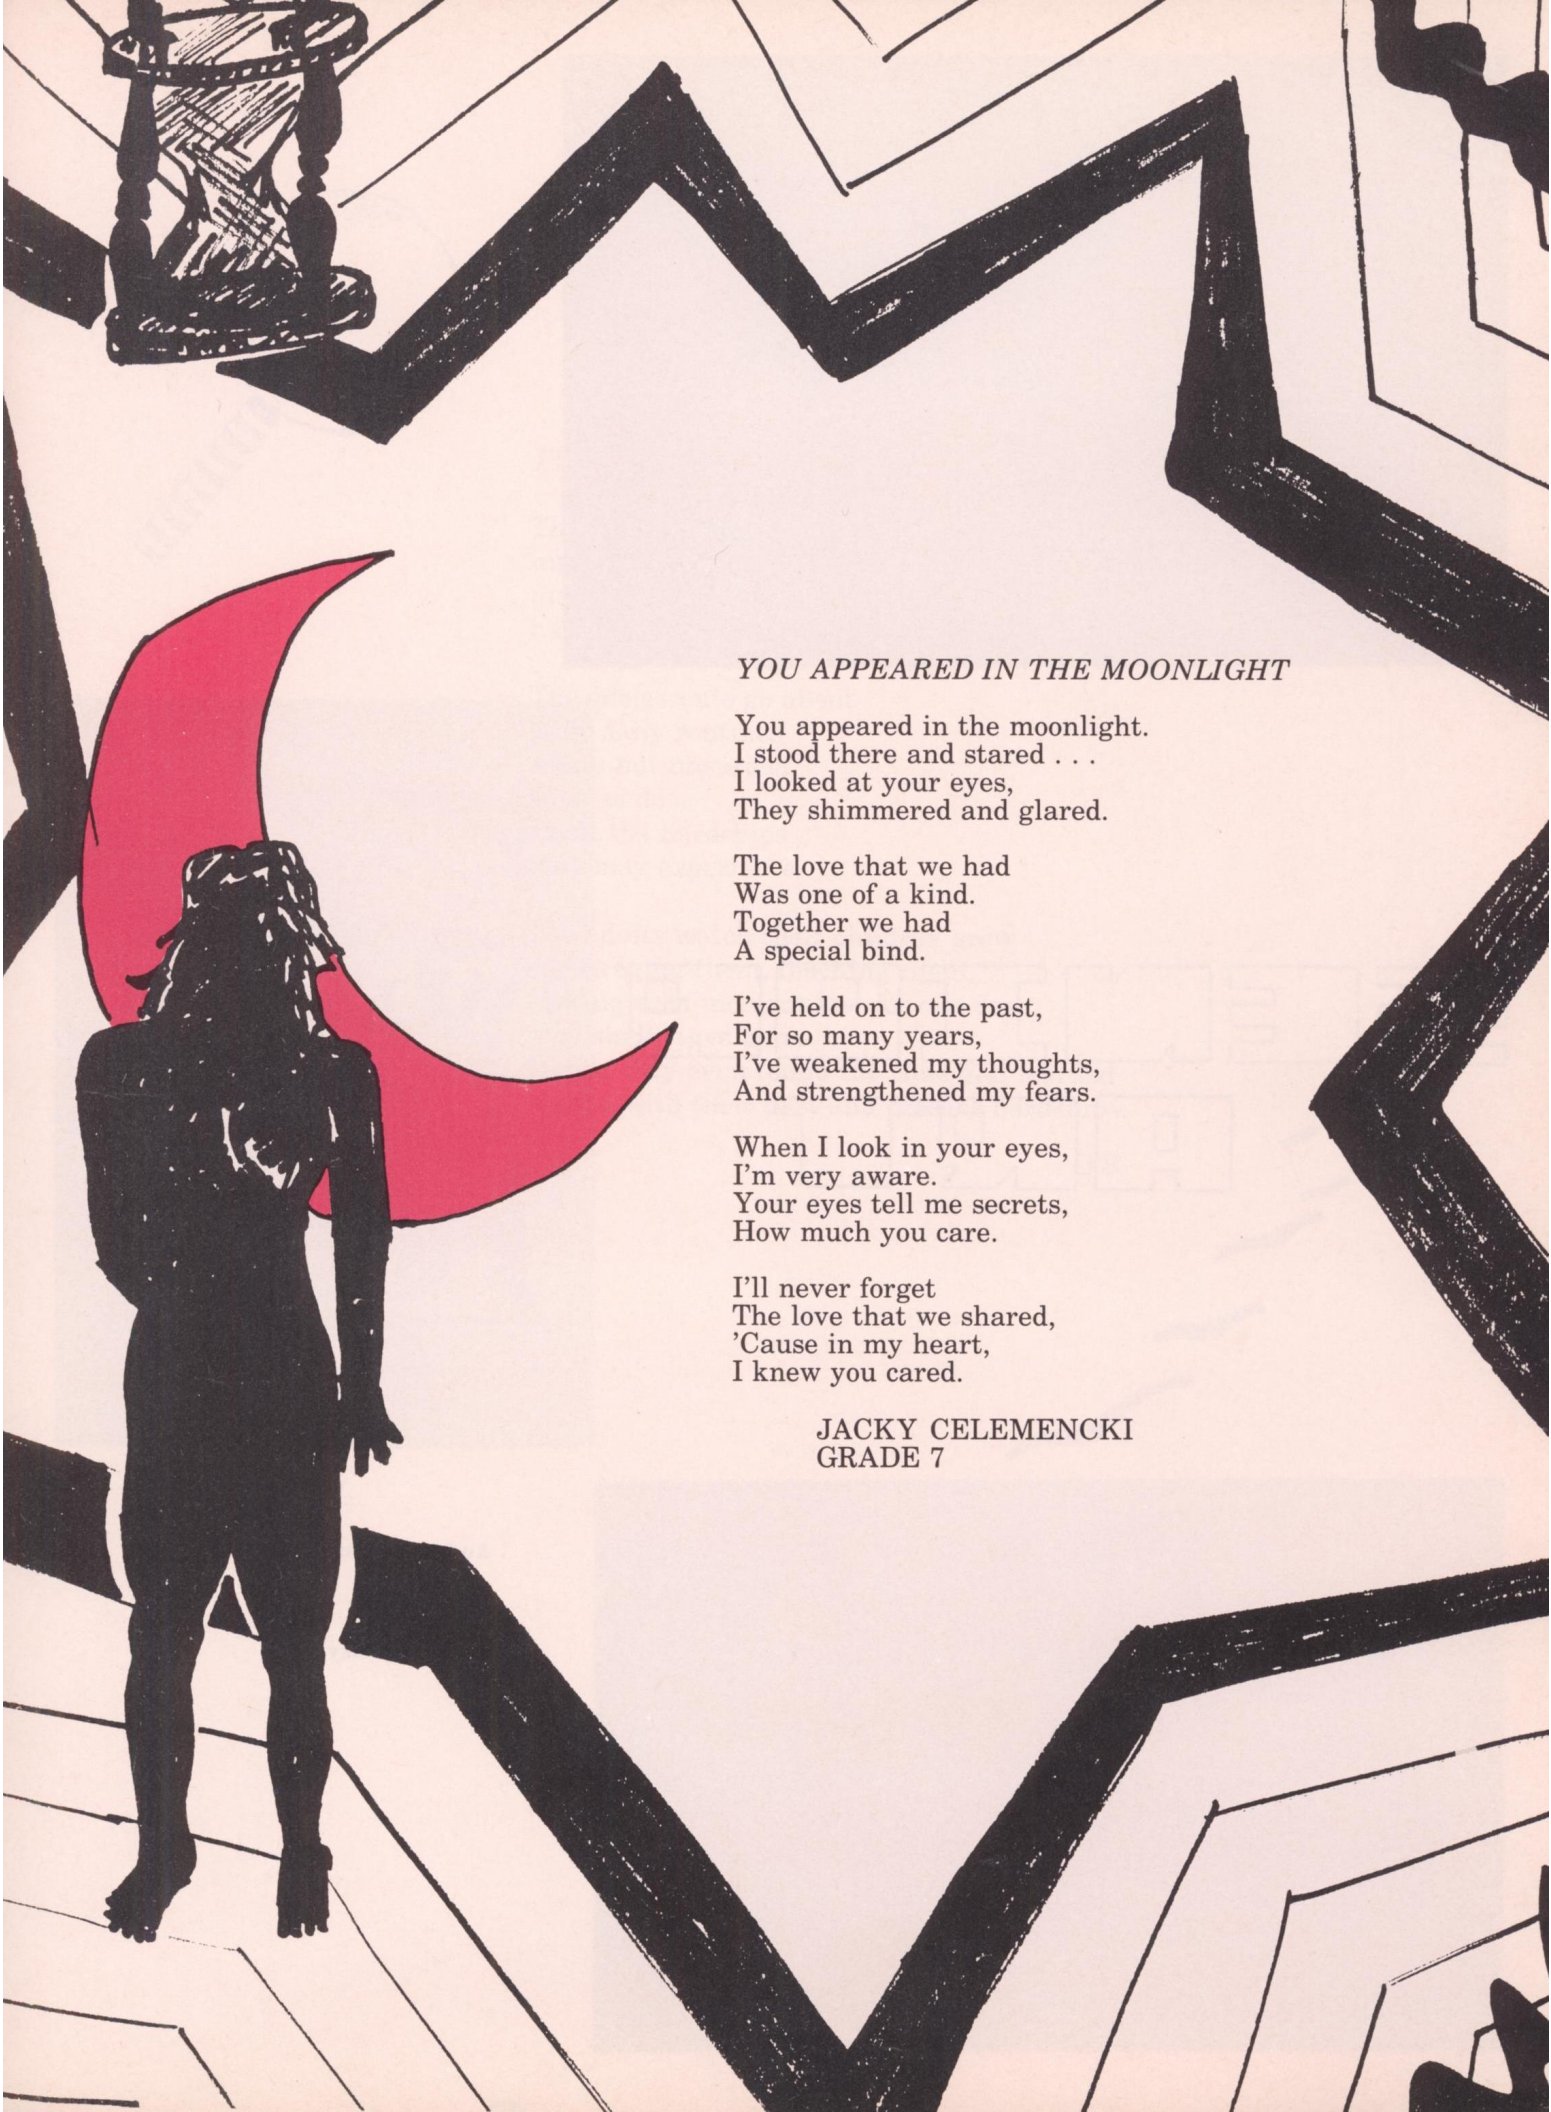

I don't understand what I did for this,
That all these parties I must miss.
To get left out of these social gatherings
When I know I haven't done a thing.

All I ever wanted was to fit in.
To be popular, pretty and thin.
One of those everyone admires,
who's energy and popularity never tires.

A fortunate child I never was,
On the subject of getting along, my head starts to fuzz.
If I could only decipher what it was I did,
What was my crime, when I was a small kid.

I always had everything a child could want.
Good clothes, a good house, though nothing I'd flaunt.
That wasn't enough for my peers,
Who forced me to listen to their taunts and jeers.

A stylized illustration on a light pink background. On the left, a black silhouette of a person with long dreadlocks stands looking towards a large, bright red crescent moon. The scene is framed by thick, black, zig-zagging lines that create a geometric, maze-like border. In the top left corner, there is a small, detailed drawing of an hourglass on a stand.

YOU APPEARED IN THE MOONLIGHT

You appeared in the moonlight.
I stood there and stared . . .
I looked at your eyes,
They shimmered and glared.

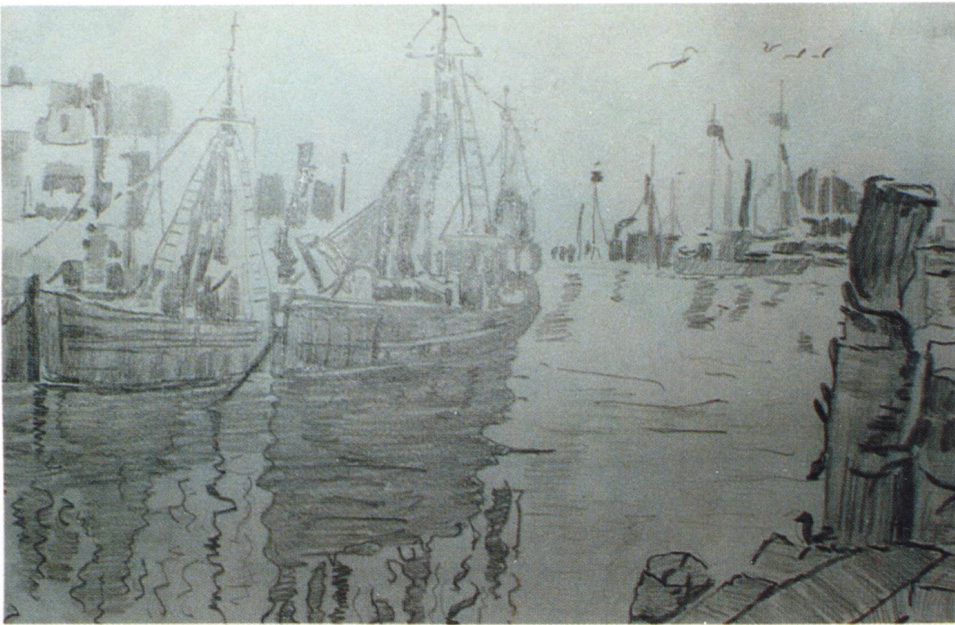

The love that we had
Was one of a kind.
Together we had
A special bind.

I've held on to the past,
For so many years,
I've weakened my thoughts,
And strengthened my fears.

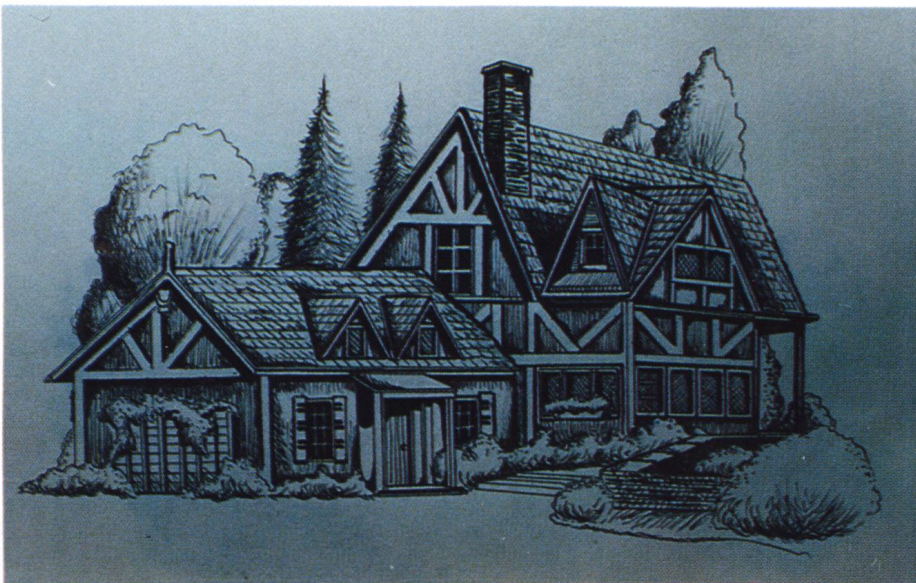

When I look in your eyes,
I'm very aware.
Your eyes tell me secrets,
How much you care.

I'll never forget
The love that we shared,
'Cause in my heart,
I knew you cared.

THE CHILDREN

The children play innocently unaware of the dangers and hardships awaiting them later on in life.

The adolescents go about their daily routines aware but unsure of what to do about the hardships
they may experience.

The adults watch their children grow encouraging them, teaching them, making each moment last for one day
they shall leave home.
Maybe they even found the time and learned to cope with their past and present hardships.

In a room
With a window
Words imply precision
Numbers and units
We're objectively subjected
To Newton, Pascal, Kelvin
They were once men
Before their names
Implied precision
I wonder if their goal
Was to find themselves immortal
In calculations and formulas
Or did they sit
In a room with a window.

TURTLE, MY DEAR.

Turtle my dear,
You've left me forever.
All our ties,
We must now sever.

As you left me,
My life drained away.
And all you could do,
Was go out and play.

You broke my heart,
When you left me that day
When I got my licence,
I knew you would pay.

As you cross the road
Completely unaware,
Too bad you don't have,
The speed of a hare.

Deep in my dreams,
You lay in the muck.
Because by MY hand,
You were hit by a TRUCK!

RUNNING

As I run from the past
And it's memories,
Of love and happiness.
I can't run fast enough.

As I run from the future,
With fears of loving,
and not being loved back.
I still can't run fast enough.

But as I run,
From the present that,
surrounds me,
with the happiness of others.
Happiness that without you,
I may never feel,
I no longer have the strength to run.

D.S.

I WAKE UP AND DREAM

I wake up in the morning and dream of you.
My vision so pure, reality so untrue.
I see that you need something more than me,
But if I let you go, will I ever be free?
Free from pain, from doubt, from frustration.
Released from guilt, the alienation?

I'm a coward because fear controls my decisions,
Logic's too cold and my heart's been imprisoned.
I must set a course for myself in my life.
But first walk the edge of necessities knife.
All I want is one more kiss to tide me through.
Because in my dreams all I've got are memories of you . . .

I hope you'll forgive my seeming rude . . .
But this is more for love . . . than the Prelude!

MAKE LOVE NOT WAR

When Left and Right meet,
Some will disagree.
Few will survive,
Many will fight.

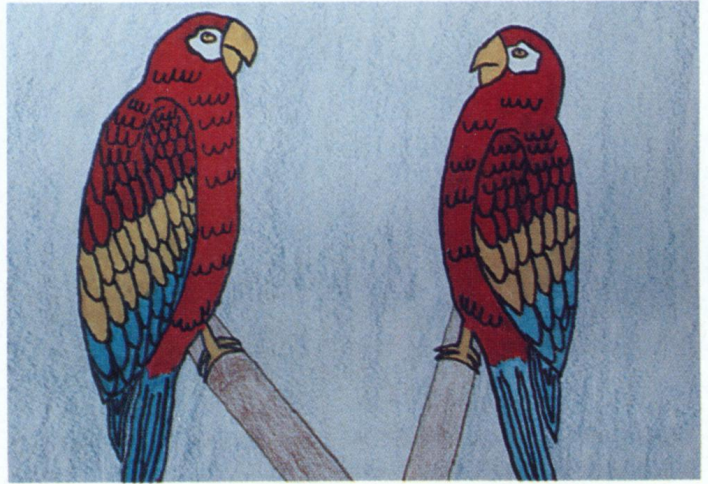

When Left stays alone,
Some will feel sad.
Few will feel happy,
Many will be lonely.

When Right stays alone,
Some will get desperate.
Few will be satisfied,
Many will long togetherness.

When Left and Right meet again,
Some will remember.
Few will forget,
Many will have died.

BOWL OF CONFUSION

Under,
under I fall drowning in an ocean of deceit.
Those who could once be trusted are now strangers.

When
I was younger
I trusted him
like no one else.
He failed me.

Now
I flounder
wondering when another will come along.

Until then he shall haunt my thoughts, my dreams
and hopes.
It is him who I think of as I drown in this
Bowl of Confusion.

I WAKE UP AND DREAM II

I wake to the fleeting feel of your lips,
Another day begins anew.
My skin tingles from the touch of fingertips,
Their loving caress a miracle of you.

These are the memories I hold dear,
With their private places in my heart.
Not the ones filled with our doubts and fear,
Those are the shades with which I easily part.

So our troubles may seem neverending,
Yet I can see the smile through the tears.
While now there may be no use pretending,
I can wait a few more years . . .

- Cory Cooperman

FOR YOU . . .

I'll clear the pain from your eyes
And fill you with laughter.
Hold your hand through darkness,
To guide you into the light.
I'll fill myself with your passion,
And realize your dreams.
Shield you from the cold,
And warm you with my heat.
I'll be your sun in the morning,
Your moon at dusk.
Together we'll find the path
To lead us home.
But don't walk away,
To see if I'll follow.
You'll be travelling that road alone.
