EDITOR'S MESSAGE

It's hard to believe but we actually pulled it off. The '91 Prelude is an incredible hit. Now that it is over, we realized our hard work has paid off. At the time, it was so hard with no one on our side but we didn't give up. Thanks to our awesome, great, amazing, incredible, superb, extraordinary yearbook staff! We couldn't have done it without Wagar's most incredible (looking) teachers, Mr. Prunier and Mr. Ioannou (Prunou). Thanks for your humour, support, help and for just being there. Best of luck to the graduating class of '91. Good luck in the future!

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

In a poll recently conducted among working adults the following question was asked: "What do you think are the three most important decisions a person makes during his lifetime?" By far the answer most frequently given was "The choice of one's vocation".

Some of you are on the threshold of making this important decision, while others of you will defer your selection until after you have had several more years of education. The important thing to keep in mind during your selection process is one simple fact: the more education a person obtains the greater the number of options he/she has. Don't minimize your options by an abbreviated education.

Whatever your vocational decision may be, I do hope your life's work will give you great satisfaction and that upon reflection in years to come each of you will look back and be fortunate enough to say that you made the right decision.

THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1991

Would like to leave the teachers of Wagar High School
the following items:

To Mr. McEwen, a school filled with ugly people and a face lift.

To Mr. Murison, students who will spend their recesses and lunches sitting around the perimeter of the school and read chemistry.

To Mrs. Sayers, a dozen specially bread mice to make the holes in swiss cheese.

To Mme. Grunberg, a provincewide ban on Geographie 34 so she won't have to teach it.

To Ms. Rosenberg and Ms. Karp, another trip to Stratford with kids who don't fall asleep during the plays.

To Mr. Myers, a class that will "stop the talkin" when asked.

To Miss Ebett, a class that will "think".

To Mr. Ioannou, a plaque that says "yeah you?".

To Mme. Himelfarb, more outfits.

To Ms. Cummings, students (grade 11) who don't have to run to class in order to be on time.

To Mr. Levine, a school filled with people who will wear his purple campaign buttons.

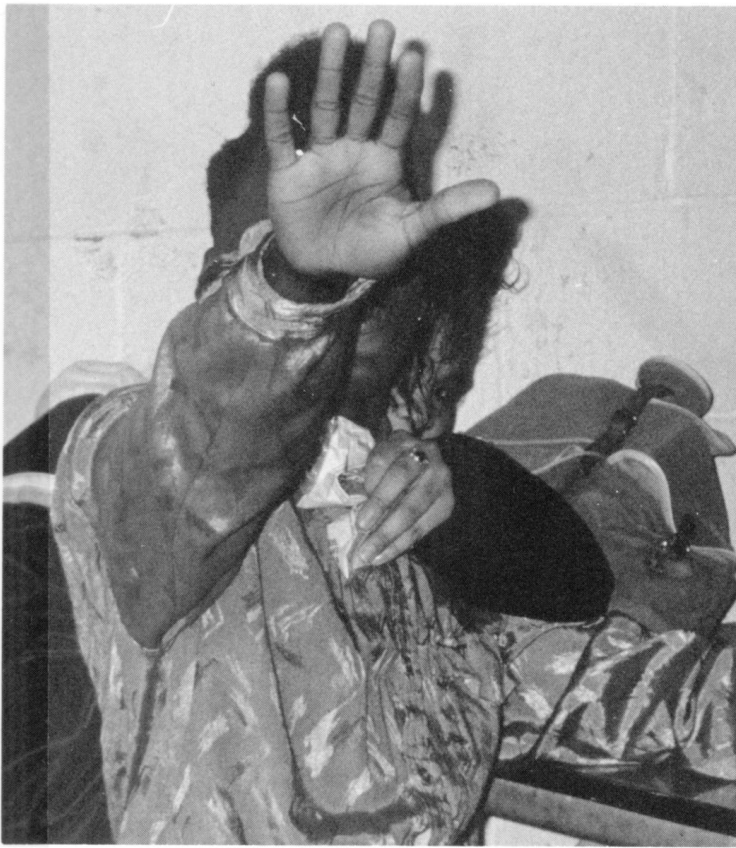

To Mr. Chuprun, an all female gym class.

To Mme. Afilalo, a classroom filled with people who have the sniffles and "click-click, bang-bang".

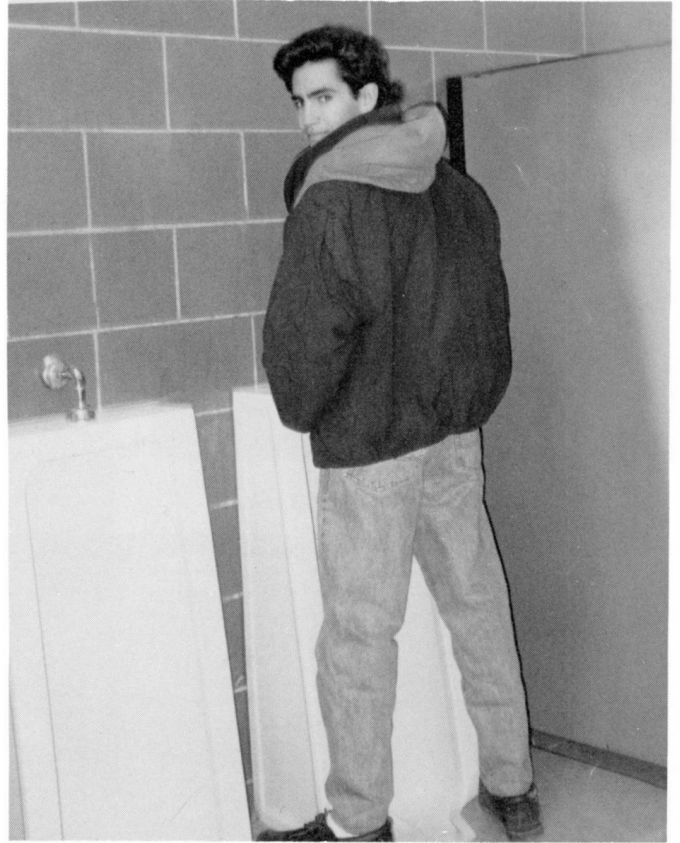

To Mr. Rideout, a graduating class that won't ask for re-takes of their grad pictures because they don't like their hair.

To Mr. Druker, more chalk for his hands, face and pants.

To Mr. Feigen, a class that wears ripped jeans and chews gum.

Stop in the name of love!

A little privacy . . . PLEASE!

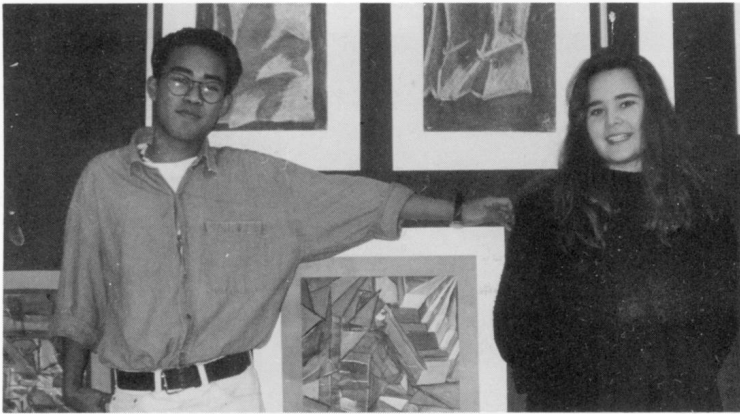

And they said it would never happen.

Push a little harder!

Once upon a time there was a crazy madman after all the students and teachers of Wagar High School.

One day, he terrorized this poor boy and created a vegetable.

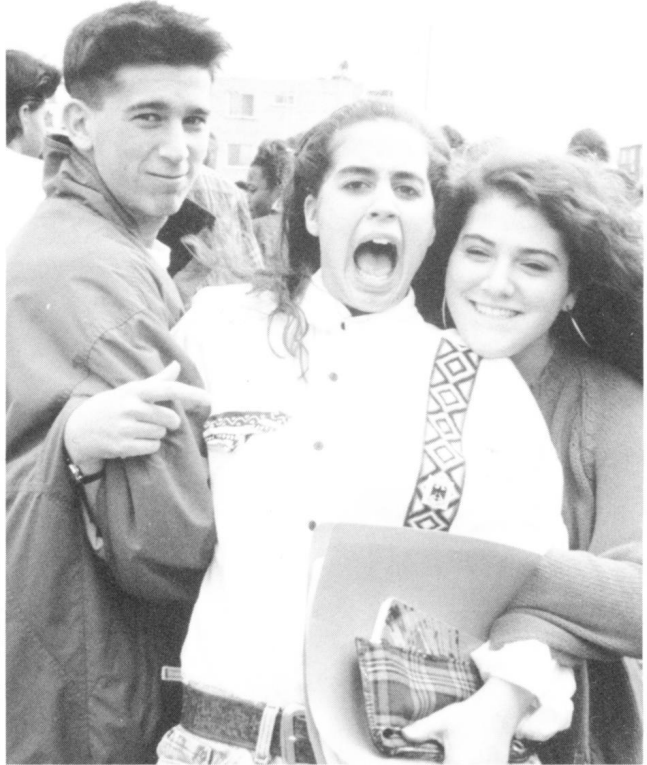

One man volunteered, but no one seemed to have faith in him.

With the courage of these 5 brave dudes, they were able to capture the madman.

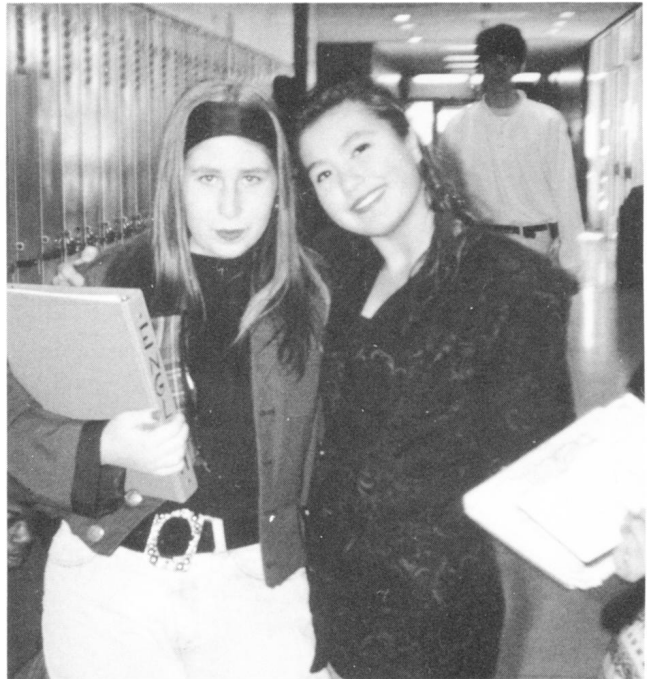

He crept up on his second victim from behind, but the man was too slow to realise what was going on.

By now, the crazy man had turned all of Wagar into a complete and total nut house!

Some were still scared . . .

But most seemed to be relaxed and returned to their normal life.

The Genesis Of Friendship

In the afterglow
Of your memory of us,
We hope that
Our presence will stay entangled
In the musical box of your mind
For absent friends
Are like the watchers of the skies
Dancing with the moonlit knights
In the cage of our dreams
Producing unique slumbers
For the sleepers

For in time
As sure as you will see
Ripples over the horizon
And reality
As sharp as the knife,
Harsh as the cinema show
And yet as dependable
As when supper is ready
Our friendship will never be forgotten
And will always stay
Forever young
As we three Shall always be.

MASS MEDIA

Life Ahead

Adrift on a hand made body
Down the stream of blood
The world crumbles
To the sea of once was love
The wind blows cold
As you sit alone
You think to yourself
This is what I call home.

Brent Cook
Sec. 5

Oblivion

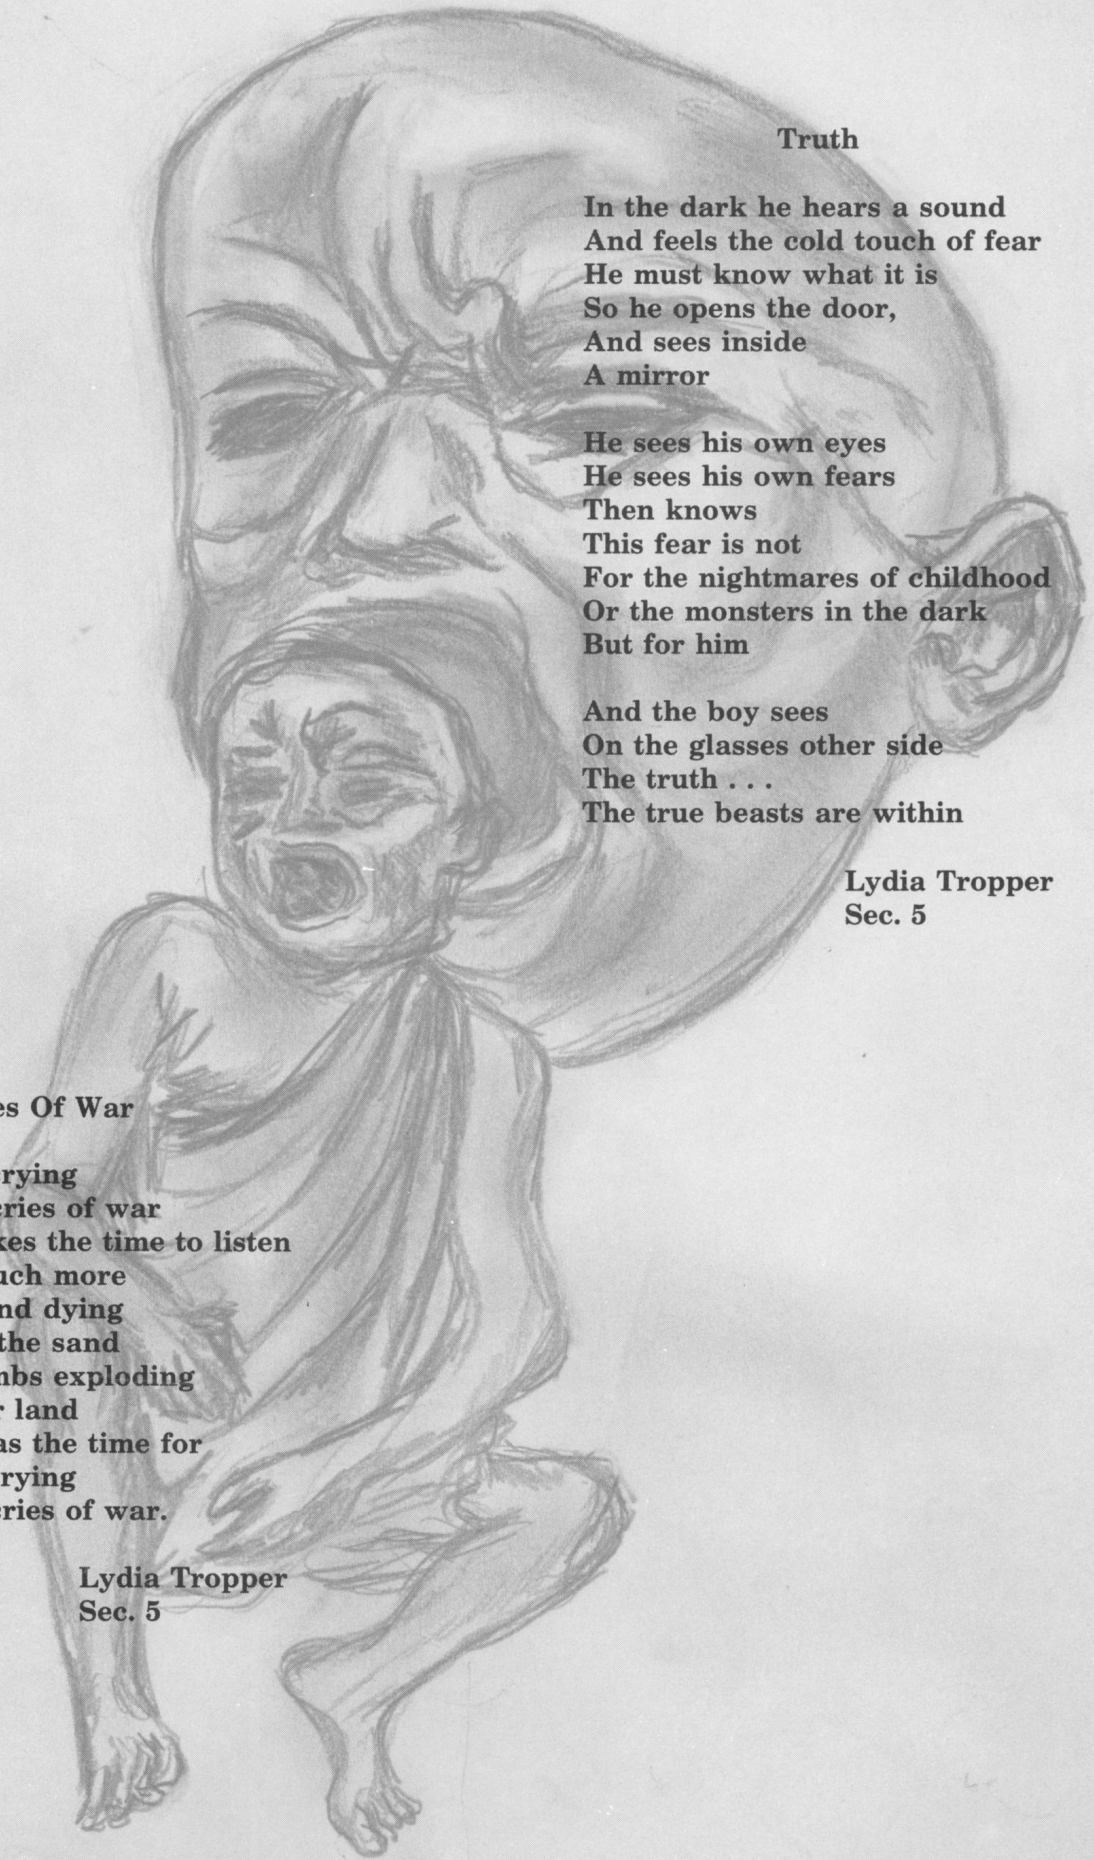

Darkness haunts me,
And it scares me,
Yet I use it as a shield,
A hiding place, a weapon
Against the harsh Daylights glare

When I show no fear,
When I don't draw back,
Darkness reaches out
And takes me in.
She wraps her sombre cloak around me,
She shelters me,
She takes me home.

In the glare of Daylight,
Nothing can hide.
Every corner,
Every angle,
Turns up sharply,
The world opens,
To show it's beauty
And it's ugliness too.

Lydia Tropper
Sec. 5

Truth

In the dark he hears a sound
And feels the cold touch of fear
He must know what it is
So he opens the door,
And sees inside
A mirror

He sees his own eyes
He sees his own fears
Then knows
This fear is not
For the nightmares of childhood
Or the monsters in the dark
But for him

And the boy sees
On the glasses other side
The truth . . .
The true beasts are within

Lydia Tropper
Sec. 5

Cries Of War

A little child crying
Amongst the cries of war
Yet no one takes the time to listen
There is so much more
Of suffering and dying
Of corpses in the sand
Of distant bombs exploding
Destroying our land
And no one has the time for
A little child crying
Amongst the cries of war.

Lydia Tropper
Sec. 5

SKY

A striking powerful blue begins it all,
Pungent,
Everlasting;

A stream of swirls, blue,
Very pale
And whites hang beneath;

This is a painting, a dash here,
A dash there,
Wait, lets throw some cotton in,
For texture and effect;

Map - Like shapes remain,
Unmoving beneath,
Deep dark green braded with shadows,
and light.

And I am a bird, flying,
Carefree,
I, clad in flowing black,
And shades of blue,

STRATFORD TRIP

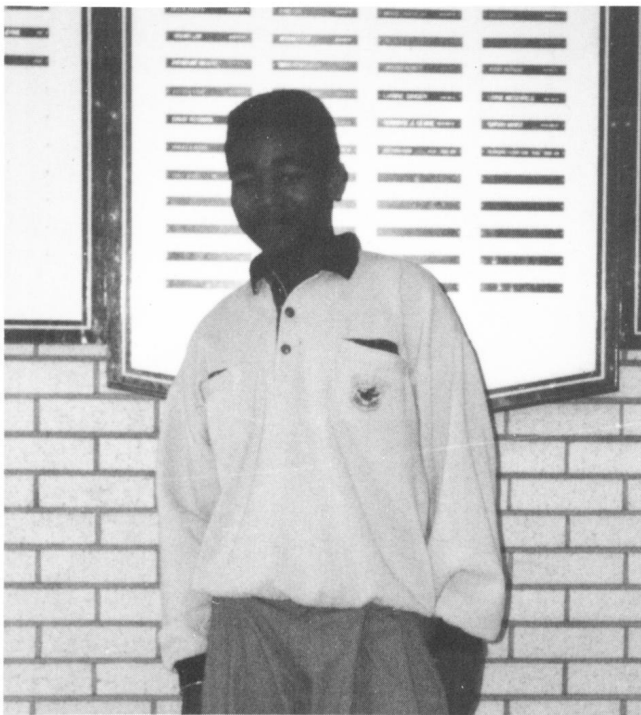

The 1990 Stratford Trip was one that will never be forgotten. It was a party! After a long and smelly (broken toilet) bus ride, we arrived at our luxurious (NOT) inn. Quickly after checking in we jumped into the pool clothes and all. To our surprise we met up with friends from LCC, Bialik, WIC and other schools. That night we saw Guys & Dolls, which was a spectacular show. Because of the lack of sleep that night, the second day was one of rest. We saw two more plays that day, Love for Love and The Merry Wives of Windsor. Thanks to all the local boys for a memorable night. On our way back home we stopped in Niagara Falls. We had great times on the Maid of the Mist. All in all the trip was a great success. Once again, thanks to Ms. Karp and Mrs. Rosenberg.

CHOCOLATE ALMOND SALE

Winner of hockey tickets: Sarah Rzepa

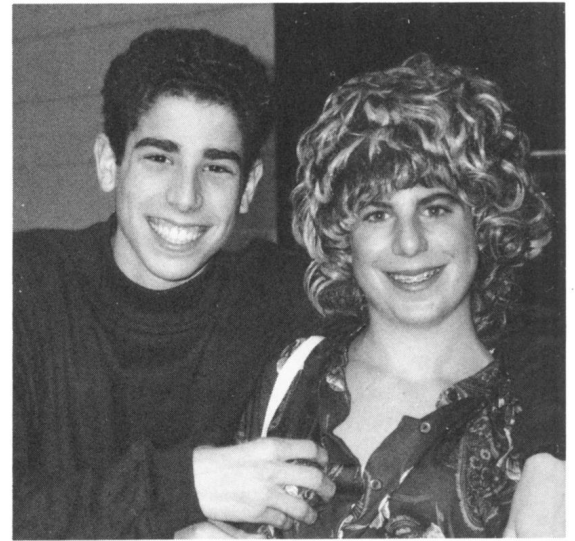

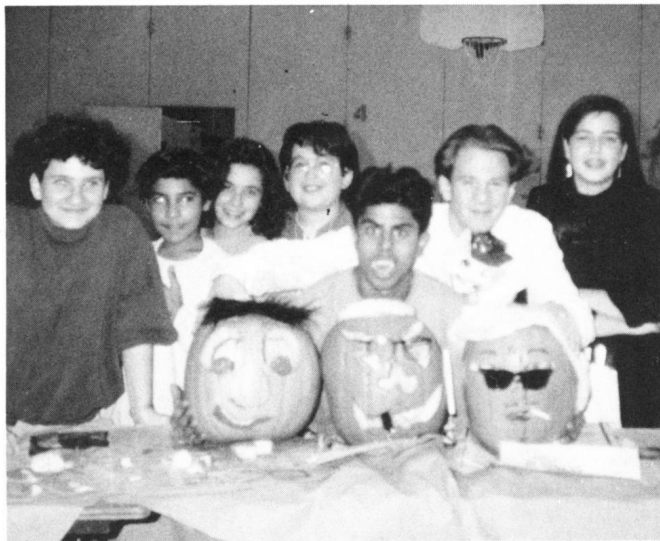

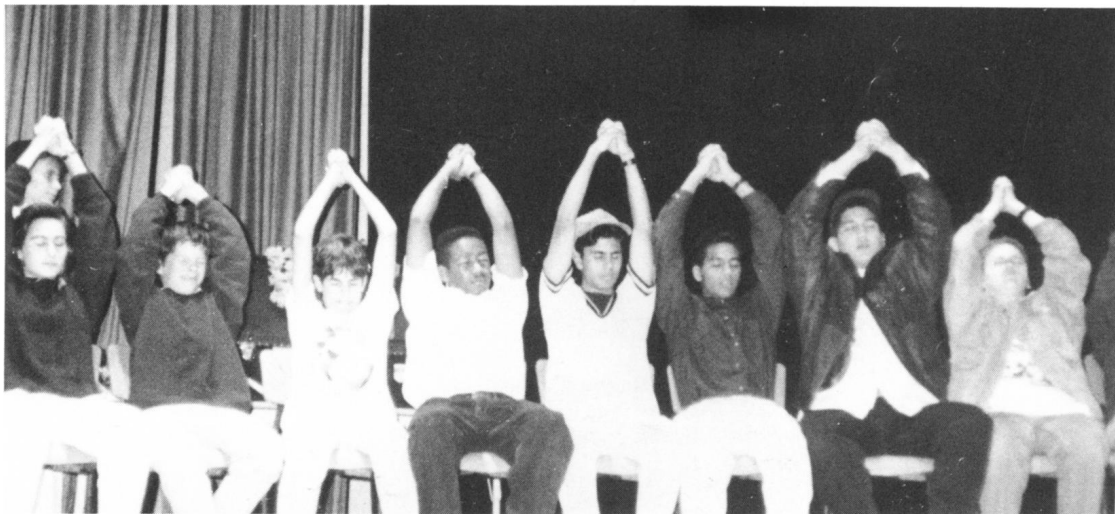

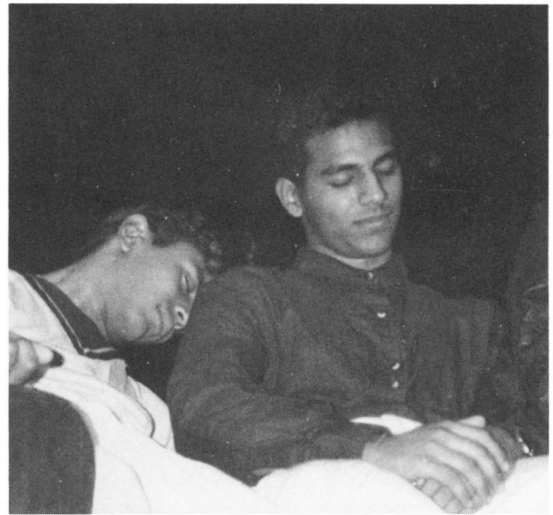

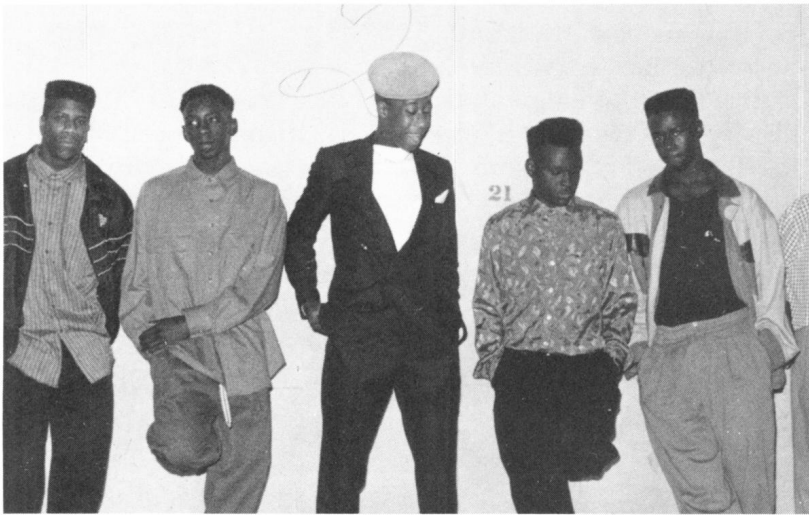

Winner of colour t.v.: Richard Griffith

Once again this year's fundraiser was a new one, CHOCOLATE ALMONDS! Small, sweet and easy to sell! After many months of collecting the money back from the chocolate almond sale, the Student Council raised a fine profit. Therefore resulting in a less expensive Winter Carnival, give away dances, and much, much more. Thanks again everyone for doing your best. It really made the year a lot more exciting and fun. Keep up the spirit Wagar.

HALLOWEEN WEEK

As the calender flips

Starring

Dr. Wise . . . Binky
Mr. Officer . . . Bif
Mrs. Pike . . . Buffy

One day Binky and Buffy went roller skating around Montreal. Buffy lost a wheel and went rolling down a street in Westmount. She rolled into a garbage can that was then taken by a garbage man and sent to a garbage dump. Binky was so absent minded that he didn't realise Buffy had rolled away. Meanwhile Buffy was trapped in garbage and didn't know what to do. But don't fear because Bif is here. Bif saved Buffy and the two of them went for hot dogs and fries. By this time, Binky realized what happened and began to worry. He then went into the nearest hot dog joint to phone the police. But to his surprise, he saw his babe with another dude. Buffy tried to explain but Binky wouldn't hear of it. He then grabbed Bif and took him outside. They began a ketchup and mustard fight. Bif was not pleased. He began fighting dirty and whipped out the salt and pepper. Buffy wouldn't have any of this nonsense and ran away with the fry maker.

THE END

Don't miss the next episode of "As The Calender Flips" when Binky and Buffy make cheese for the first time.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

In the Wagar tradition the Student Council's presidential position has been filled and this year it was overflowing. Many events have been triumphantly inspired by this noble council such as the Gr. 7 pizza party, BBQ, fundraiser and the Magic and Mystery week. Our dances were new experiences in body movement and numerous other events that were both wild and wicked. As your leaders, we thank you for giving us this role of superiority and that future years come close to ours. Once again Mr. Forman deserves a big round of applause (clap, clap, clap) and Mimi and Sharri - the best of luck in the future. Maybe once again, the spirit has arisen in the halls of Wagar High School and for this we thank the Student Body for their fire.

Thanx,
