Principal's Message

I am pleased to write this message to the graduates of 1999. Allow me to extend my sincerest and warmest congratulations. You have successfully completed your high school education and are now crossing the threshold to a new era in your lives. This is truly a memorable occasion. You are the first graduating class for Wagar High School under the newly formed school board - The English Montreal School Board (E.M.S.B.). You are Wagar's contribution to this new board and to the communities which you will involve yourself in the years to come.

We have striven not to educate you but also to instill in you such attitudes as self-discipline, a sense of responsibility, tolerance, respect and understanding of all people. You have had the good fortune not only in the strong leadership of Ms. Pike and Mr. Meades, my predecessors, but also in having enthusiastic, hard-working and caring teachers. We in turn are pleased to be able to work with a promising group of young men and women. It has indeed been my pleasure to have been part of this family in this, my first year as your principal.

I wish to extend, to you all, best wishes for happiness, success and health.

Mr. P. Buttino

Vice-Principal's Message

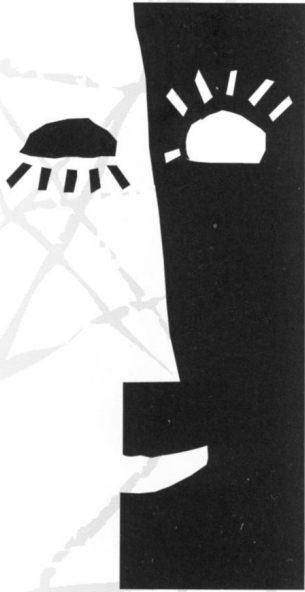

"A new beginning" is the slogan currently adopted by the newly created English Montreal School Board. As a Graduating Class, you too will be moving on to "A new beginning", whether it be to a CEGEP of your choice, a professional program, or even, perhaps, the workforce. The prospect of change; "A new beginning", is always an unknown quantity but a necessary and exciting experience.

To the 1999 Graduating Class of Wagar High School, and your parents and/or guardians whom, unfortunately, I was able to spend only a short period of time getting to know, I thank you for your contributions to Wagar High School over the years. I wish you continued success in dealing with these changes and in meeting subsequent challenges with which you will be faced as you move to the next level of your continuing education. Most importantly, I would ask that you keep your dreams alive and to remember that, to improve and to adapt, you will have to be committed to the necessary changes that the next few years and the new millennium will dictate.

To the remaining student body, parents and/or guardians, teachers and staff, I extend my gratitude for what you have also contributed to Wagar High School over the 1998-1999 School Year. I look forward to our future, as we also enter this period of change, confident that, together we will meet whatever challenges that arise over the next few years always in the best interests of the students of Wagar High School.

Mr. Brian Acton

RETIRING TEACHERS

Mr. N. Feigen

Norman Feigen has dedicated his career to the benefit of all Wagar students. For thirty-two years, he has brought a new degree of excellence to the teaching community and he is credited for his enormous contribution to such activities as football and yearbook. A seasoned PSBGM biology teacher, he gave new meaning to the term "joie-de-vivre" and while the cultures and variety of students has changed over the years, he has remained a lasting influence to all who have known him. He has been truly an exceptional addition to Wagar High School since 1967.

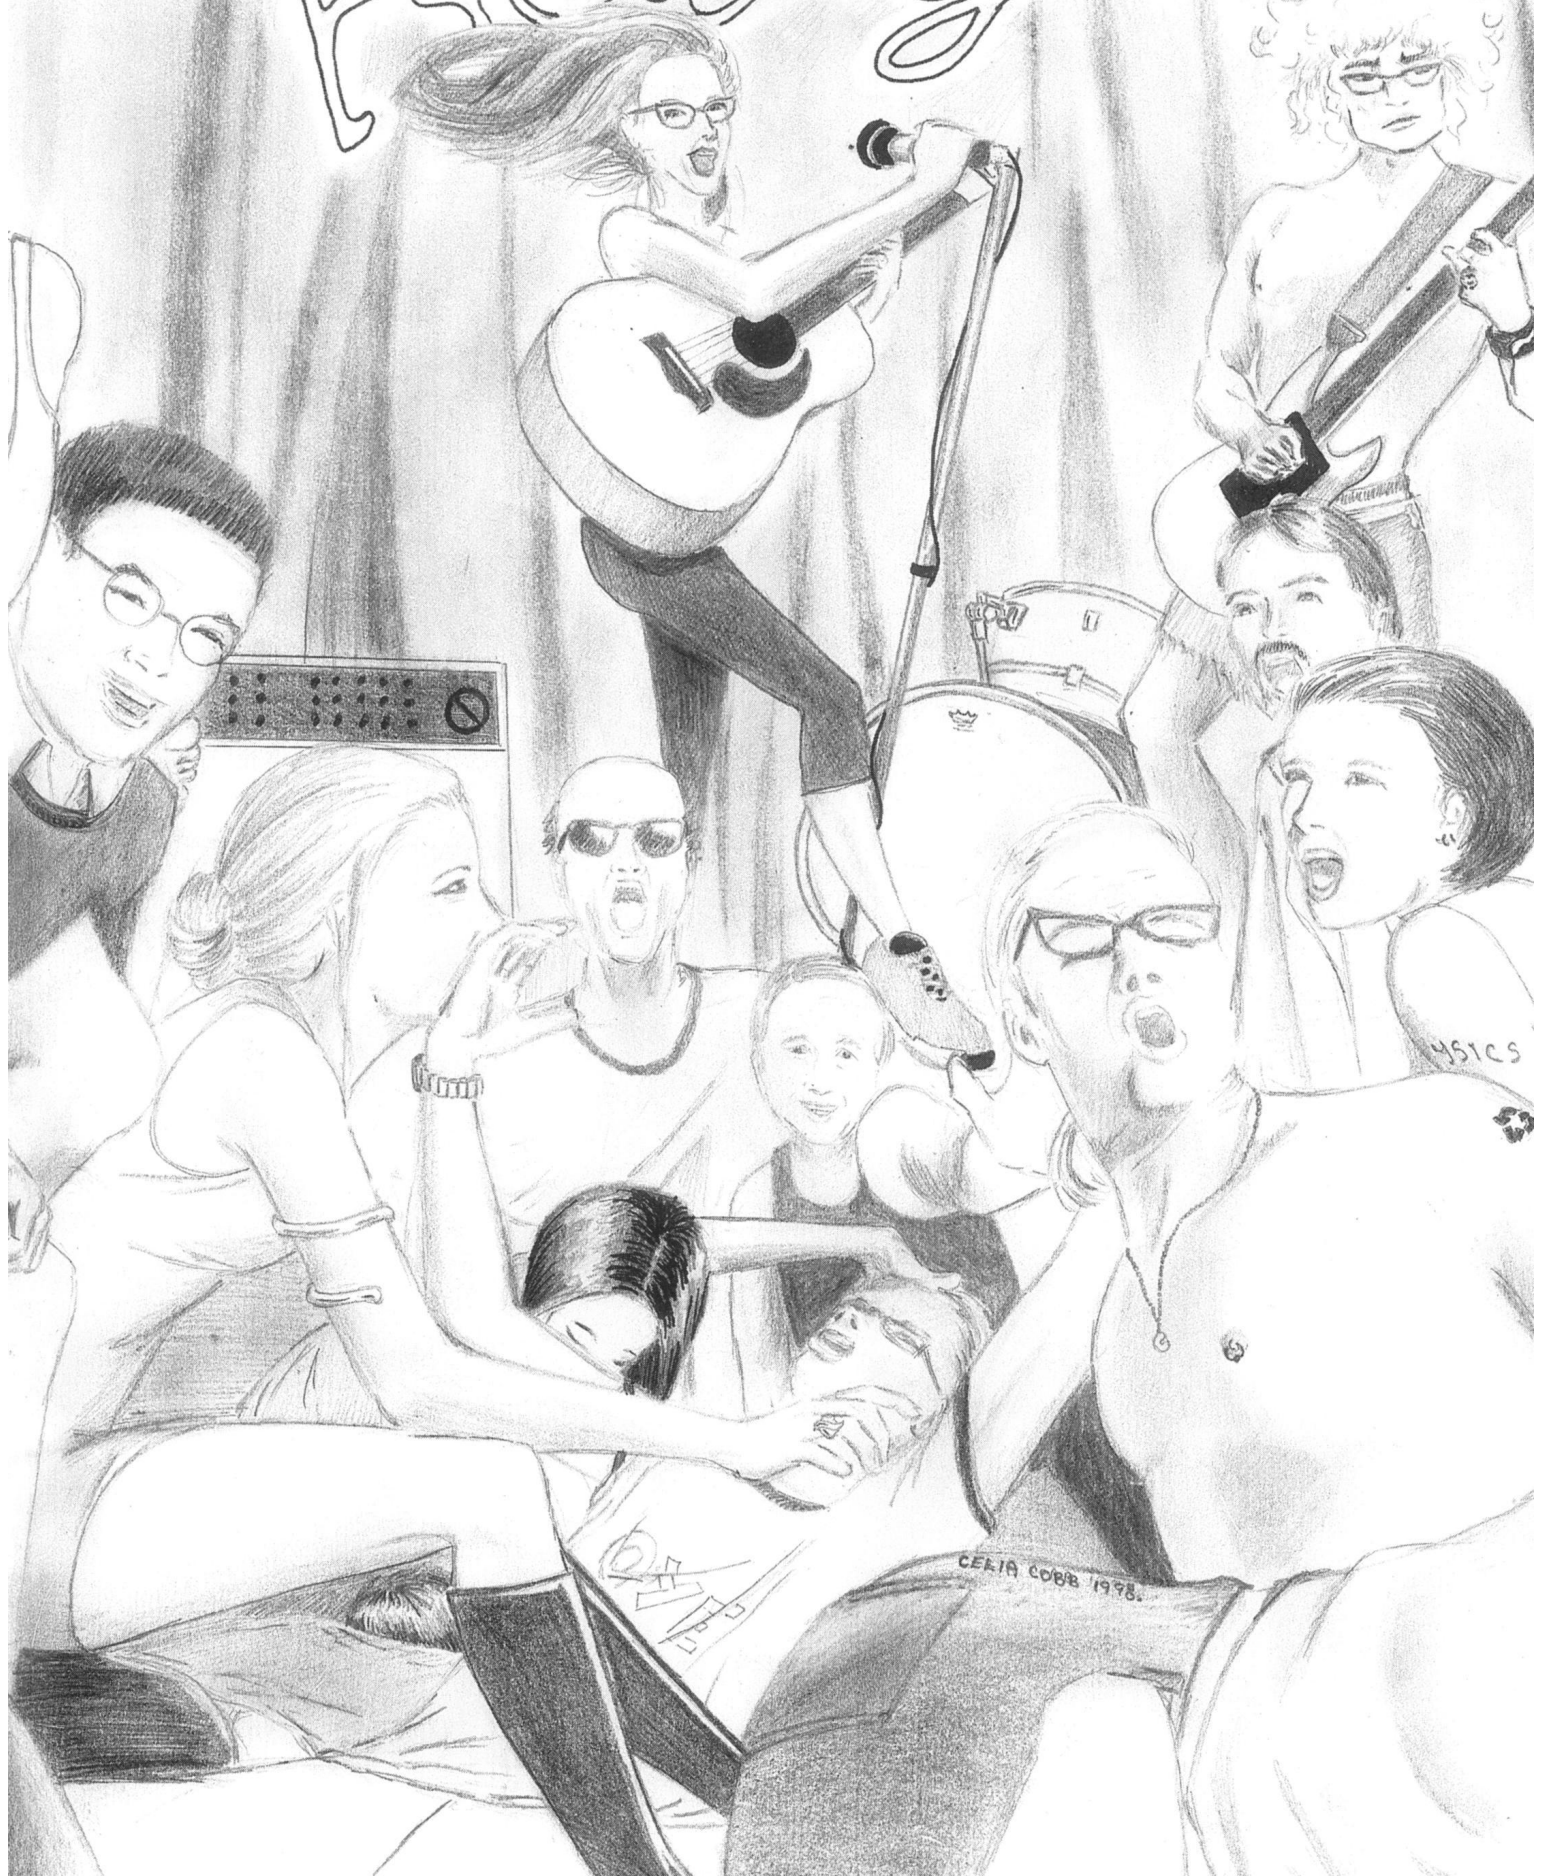

Mr. S. Forman

In 1985, Steve Forman left TMR High to enter the institution known as Wagar. With him, he brought excitement to the student body and added greatly to the after-school activities. His greatest accomplishment is without doubt the five consecutive basketball championships which he coached. This thirty-five year veteran of the teaching profession will always remember Wagar for the 1997 cruise and the place from which his two sons graduated.

Mr. C. Ioannou

Ya you! Two simple words which will always be the trademark of Chris Ioannou, a highly dedicated and knowledgeable educator. Upon his arrival in 1967, he brought with him ten years of prior experience and endowed his leadership skills to the students. His fondest memories include "The Relocatables" and an incident in which a teacher sent around a notice dismissing all students at fifth period. Thanks for all the great years. Your entertaining method of teaching will be sorely missed. We wish you the best of luck in the future.

WHEE! This is the point when I say something profound like "The bane of the seed is potential" or "The fish goes swish". Instead, here's a quote from Longfellow: "In the world's broad field of battle, In the bivouac of life, Be not like dumb driven cattle! Be a hero in the strife! Read and understand that this is all that matters. I thank all those who need to hear it. I apologize to those offended. I make even greater apologies to those whom I have not offended. A swift bow, the curtain falls, the lights go on & everyone gets the hell out of the theatre. FNURT

Grad Editors' Message

It's hard to believe that after five long years, I will not be walking on familiar grounds anymore. My last year was definitely one of the best. Thank-you yearbook staff for allowing me to be a part of something so important to our school. Sheila and Pam, you both were very interesting to work with. (I'll miss you)

Tracy Doucet

Hi

Five years have come and gone way too fast, but we still have the memories. First off I would like to thank my partners in crime, Pam and Tracy. I'm still not sure how we did it, but we did it! I would also like to thank Kemba & Zack for all the their help collecting all the photos, protos and superlatives, Andrew for watching us while we worked, and Mike for answering our questions. A special thanks to all the grads for listening and understanding, good luck in the future.

-Sheila Patel
Bye

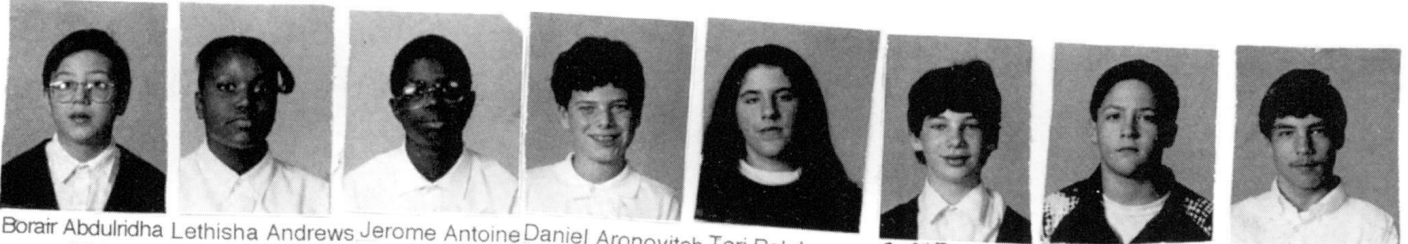

No matter how many times I unsuccessfully tried to avoid those yearbook meetings and the numerous excuses I used, I can't say I regret joining the staff. It was a learning experiance, especially for all us, irresponsible procrastinators. Without the constant harasing of our editors, Andrew and Mike, to meet our deadlines, we would have never done it. Thanks to Kemba & Celia for their company while weslaved away the day before the deadline. To Vince for staring at us while we worked. Kenton for the spirit. To my fellow editors, Sheila & Tracy, would have never done it without it. Grad pages look great! You guys are the best. To Grads, enjoy your yearbook and Good luck in the future!

The day started off as any other. But suddenly...

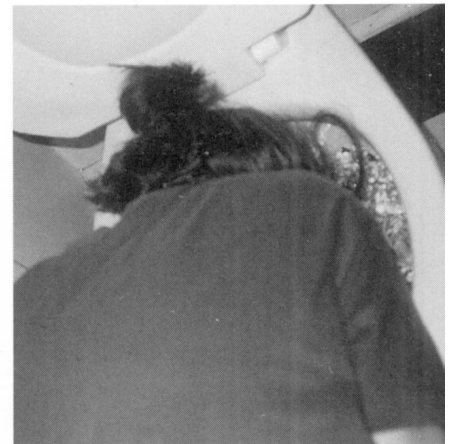

We realized some vile fiend had poisoned our food supply.

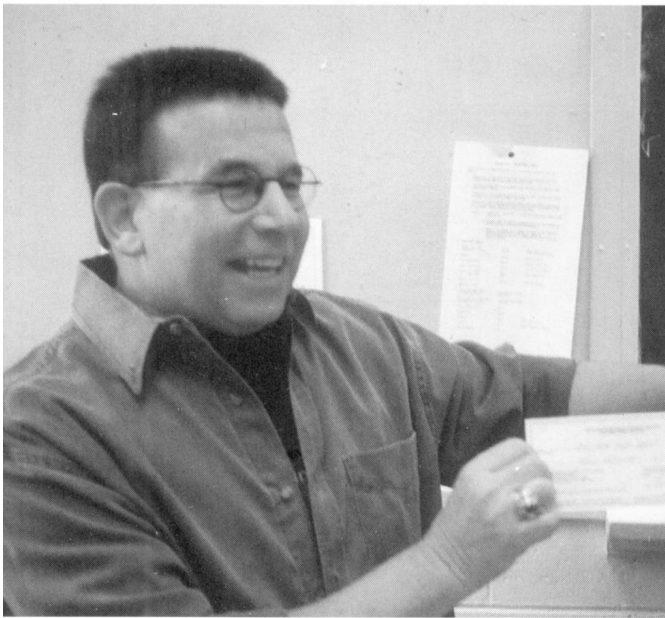

All fingers pointed at one suspect. The immediate reply was, "Who, me?"

The disturbed masses banded together to solve the predicament.

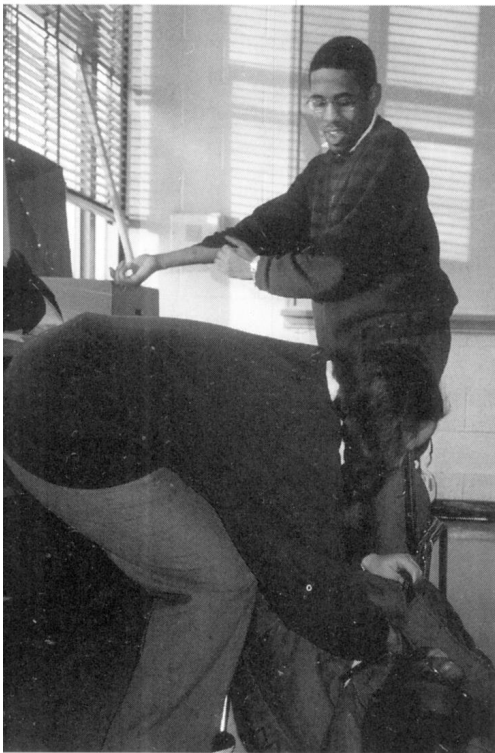

Meanwhile, the problem got worse and some got sick...

A reward was offered to rid Wagar of the plague...

...while others ran far, far away.

Riots broke out in the confusion.

On a tip, the police came in and captured the real conspirators: the cafeteria ladies.

However, the damage had already been done and Mr. Buttino once again ruled with an iron first.

STUDENT LIFE

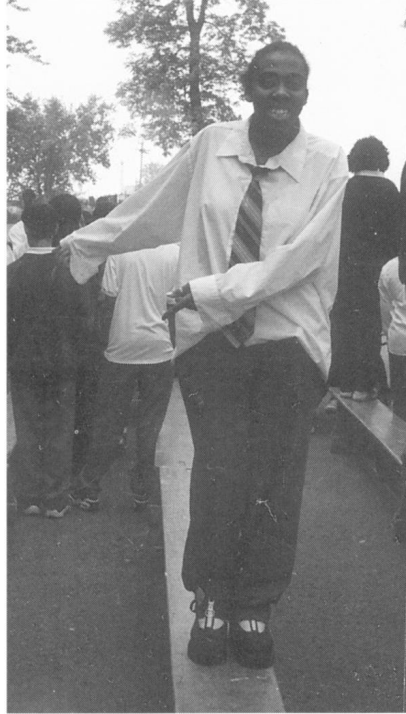

Leadership Retreat: Planning the Future...

Early in the year, Student Council and Prelude staff went on a Leadership Retreat. While there was a major disturbance during the night, it turned out to be an enjoyable weekend. The students toiled day and night planning Wagar's activities while also finding some time to relax.

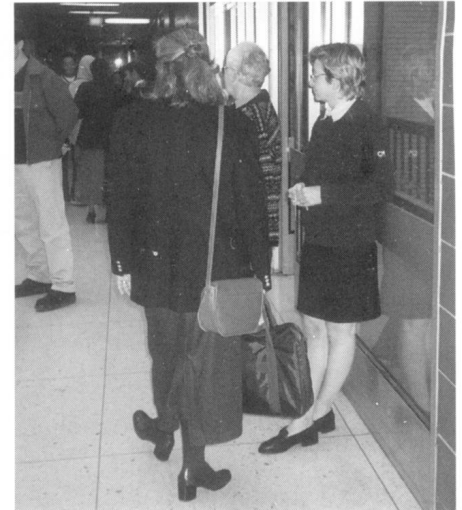

B.B.Q.: A bonanza of burgers n' buns

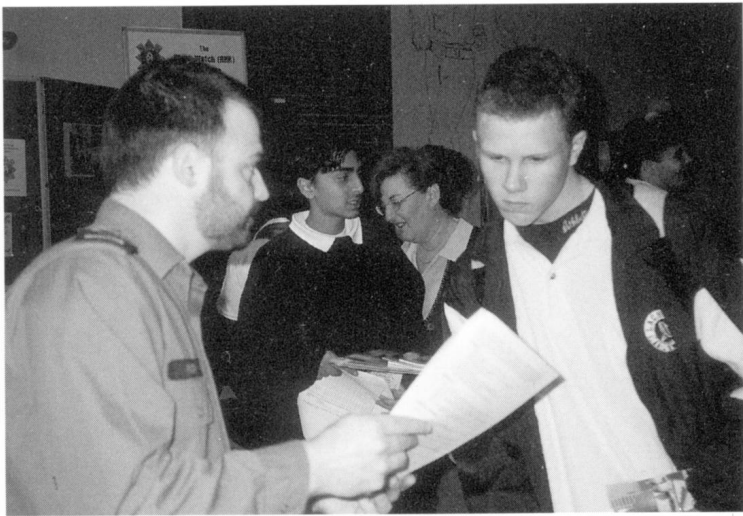

The Student Council turned Wagar into a fast food restaurant and helped serve a hearty lunch to the students and staff. While some hurried off to play football, others hung around to listen to DJ Ozzman's mixes .

CEGEP Day gave the graduating class a chance to explore the various opportunities available to them. The representatives were very helpful in assisting the students in making the best decision concerning their future going into the 21st Century.

Kenton Layne wins the chocolate money Grand Prize: A Sony PlayStation

Halloween Dance

The Halloween Dance was a complete success. All of Wagar's high flyers were there; the pimps, the millionaire and the mafia men. They were all there to strut their stuff and have a good time. The result was one scary sight.

Holly Jolly Dance

Some decided to get involved at Wagar...

Ye Royal Family

Singed Out

This year, the participation rate was outstanding. The events held by Student Council bested last year's effort by far. A Royal Family was elected, the "dash for cash" drew a huge crowd, while Singed Out brought Wagar to cheer for its casanovas. The week was topped off with a choice of either bowling or skating at the rink.

MIKE ON MUSIC

As another decade closes, music is a changed animal once again. Ever-evolving, we saw the peak and fall of heavy metal, the rise of hip-hop and R&B and the deaths of many talented musicians.

This decade has been littered with flavour of the month artists (or as Doug Camilli puts it, this month's artist of the year.) Hanson, Britney Spears, N'Sync and of course the Backstreet Boys and Aaron Carter. Their fault? They have to rely on pre-teens for sales and tickets and you remember when you were that age, you went from one fad to the next. As fast as they came, they'll disappear. Only the ultimate in catchy tunes, the Spice Girls have managed to keep on going, due heavily to their incessant touring, which is probably the best way to go as a group, instead of depending on record sales and t-shirts.

Raekwon and Ghostface

Kurt Cobain, Tupac Shakur, Shannon Hoon, The Notorious B.I.G. Unfortunately, the only thing these four have in common is their sudden death. As the loss of musicians to assassinations and OD's have become tradition, we began to wonder, who's next? They were extremely talented musicians and vocalists and, after their deaths, a new page turned each time in music. With Kurt's death came the slow downturn of the Seattle scene, for instance. Also near deaths were all around musicians, too. Tupac faking his death, Metallica's James Hetfield almost burnt to a crisp right here in Montreal, Kurt's OD in Italy. The excesses of music, pyrotechnics, drugs, sex, alcohol almost always lead to disaster when it becomes out of control. I don't think this element of the industry will ever go away.

Metallica's James Hetfield

As metal dove into the underground, we saw hip-hop, gangsta rap and R&B rise to fame. Wu-Tang, Lox, Cappadonna, Blackstreet, the Fugees and of course Lauryn Hill. Five Grammys is quite a feat. She's definitely on her way up, and if she keeps writing the way she is now, she'll be here for a LONG time. This music will be going strong for a while as Puff Daddy's elegant plagiarism efforts reign on. I just hope the artists he's ripping off are cashing in their royalties.

Following up big albums has been the problem for many artists this year. Alanis Morissette's Supposed Former Infatuation Junkie having trouble against her older, extremely successful Jagged Little Pill. Metallica has had trouble with following their self-titled release (Black Album) which sold in excess of ten million albums. The Beastie Boys have been quite successful with their follow-up to Ill Communication, Hello Nasty. Radiohead records keep selling as U2's and REM's sales decline.

The 90's have brought the rise and crash of many genres of music, as well as the fusion of different styles, thanks to bands like Korn, Sugar Ray and Rage against the Machine. We only have to wait and see what the next 10 years brings to us in music.

Student Council Message

Dear Students of Wagar,

"In the end, success will be knowing that we gave it our all and that the students came out and supported us."

Well we definitely did our best, attempting to please the many different flavors of Wagar. It surely was not easy trying to get people interested at times. (Okay so who's going around? The next morning.... Okay so we can do this with 3 people) We definitely had our ups and downs (The retreat. Ha, ha....) but the beauty of all of it was the day or night of any of our given events, when we would see that all our work and stress (ha,ha) was worth it. Of course we couldn't have stayed sane without the help and guidance of certain special people in our times of need.

First and definitely foremost Mr. Forman. You were the backbone of our council, the glue that bound us, the thread that kept us together. (Okay so you get the point) But really we couldn't have done this without your enthusiasm, your humour, your persistence, your inspiration, but most of all the belief you had in that "we could do it." Mr. Acton and Mr. Buttino, your helpful hints & encouragement was greatly appreciated. Also thanks to the Teacher's Council for approving our sometimes outrageous ideas; all the teachers that supported us when we needed them & motivated us when we couldn't do it ourselves, and the simple "congratulations, that was a great event." Last but not least the WAGAR STUDENTS. Without your participation, it would have been a boring year.

But most of all to the ones that made it happen, our council of many shining stars: ADAM: Thanks 4 having our backs and making sure the winter carnival happened. SHALESHA: U have definitely spread your wings to prepare to fly this year. JACKIE: Jacqueline! Be a good girl & go find out about the budget. Best wishes 4 next year. CASS+GINA+MATTEO: Guys, you did more than your part, the winter carnival rocked. TERRISA: So did you enjoy doing "The Soul Train" at the dances. (Ha-Retreat) WARREN+INDRA: So guys how about the posters? The invisible ones were the best. (Love ya) LAURA+RACHEL: You guys have an immense amount of potential, great posters (Laura, you have friends) QUENTIN+SARA+NATASHA+CHARMAINE: The extra help was needed. We couldn't have done it without you guys.

MARCIE, not only were you my Co, you were my left side, and my best friend. We couldn't have done any of it without you. -Nicole

NICK, I may have been the left side of your brain but you're definitely the left side of my heart. I hope my insanity didn't drive you too crazy. The cosmos brought us together 4 a reason, nothing will keep us apart. Luv you. -Marcie

Student Council '99, we are and forever will be da bomb, guy!

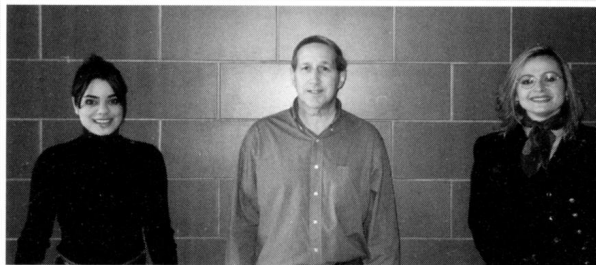

Memories don't live like people do and it's the good ones that stand out the most and are the ones we'll walk away with. All the luck to next year's council. Don't be discouraged by Wagar's procrastination, it comes with the territory! Our final words of wisdom borrowed from one of the best, "Stay Young & Have Fun."

Yours Sincerely,

Marcia Wright & Nicole Paul

Staff Advisors' Message

Walking down the first floor hallway, you can hear laughter and music emanating from room 131. Upon entering the room, you might feel as if you've just walked in on a private party. Stepping over piles of pictures and layouts, the yearbook students are scurrying around you to meet a Jostens deadline. Just when it seems that the deadline will never be met, the '99 Prelude staff pulls it off. Amidst the chaos, a unique treasure is being created - the final Wagar yearbook of the millennium.

As advisors, we are here to guide the staff, but the credit must go to this group of students who created this collection of memories all on their own. The bond and comraderie they share is to be admired. All the students who took part in this yearbook are to be commended. Special thanks to Senior Editors Andrew and Michael, and to Matteo for his boundless efforts in seeking out and acquiring ads.

Last, but definitely not least, a very big thank you to our Mr. Feigen who has been an advisor on yearbook for several years now. His help, encouragement, infinite energy, and constant smile pulled us all through. Mr. Feigen, you will be greatly missed!

Class of '99, we wish you happiness and success!

Mike says:

This has been one hell of an interesting experience. First of all, I would like to thank all my editors, who have made this year very interesting, especially Jord, who came late to save the undergrads butts, I'd like to thank the artists for their amazing work. Thanks to Roxi, for her comfort before every dead-line when I was contemplating suicide. Thanks to Josh for his donation of glossy paper($$$.) To Mr. Feigen, for taking care of everything, especially the money and dances and the lifts and of course our new advisors Ms. Soulellis and Ms. Martins. Good luck in the future! To my co senior editor, Andrew for his frequent stares determining if I was crazy or not, and his computer which screwed up only when I was around. I wish my heirs the best of luck, you'll need it! One tip: do NOT procrastinate! Good luck to the staff of 2000. Metallica and my guitar may have been the only things that kept my adrenaline going until 4am on a school night, oh yeah Buffalo Bills, too. That's it, that's all, arrivaderci!

Andrew says:

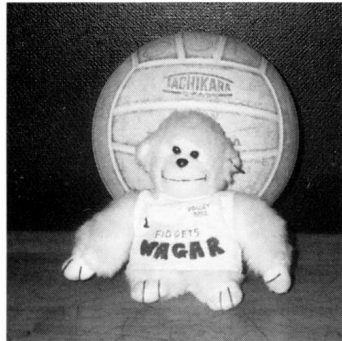

Some nights when the janitors swept up they found in room 131, an emaciated body snapping numbers at them, back bent over layout forms. The body smiled little as he worked. They feared to meddle and left him. I hope you've enjoyed this perfect yearbook. It took many lunch hours and countless days after school, but the staff's effort paid off. First and foremost, thanks to MR. Feigen for taking care of EVERYTHING; we couldn't do it without you. I'd also like to thank: Pam, Sheila and Tracy for their flawless work, Anh-Tuan for his persistence, Vince, Aruna, Pook, Jord, and Patricia for the life they brought to the room, Zach and Sheila for always having their camera, Kenton for just showing up and Matteo who did the best job ever. To everyone on staff, thanks so much for a great year.

Yearbook Staff - Behind the Scenes

Matteo Cappadocia
 Our fearless advertisement editor who found us countless ads for our yearbook to raise money. Definitely our hardest worker!

Our saviour!

Who are our photographers? Well here's a clue: They are most likely to be a couple. Answer at bottom.

The Factory Workers: Our dedicated (?) crew minus a couple of members. It takes more than a few people to make this work.

What happens when you give in your pages late.

Vero says: Hope you enjoy our yearbook!

Answer: Zach and Sheila

Down I Go

March Three/eighty-two,
 Momma gave birth to a boy,
 A life with granted dreams.
 Instead of dreams,
 He led a life filled up with candy,
 With lots of evil schemes.

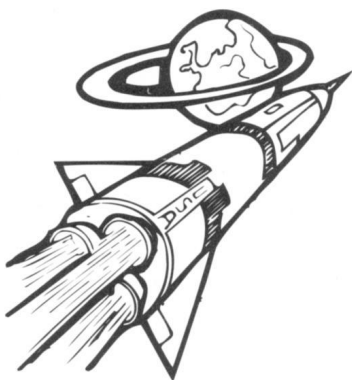

Jingle bells, jingle bells, evil all the way!
 So much fun to eat red meat, with old neighbourhood stray.

An evil,
 Hard to maintain with some Windex,
 So use a toilet brush.
 Scrub really hard,
 Rinse your mouth with lubrication,
 Lather, rinse, repeat.

Jingle bells, jingle bells, dip your head in hay,
 Go home and eat some red meat and let go of the lame.

When the end comes,
 Make sure you've paid your insurance,
 And evil premiums.
 I'll lead the way,
 Make sure follow close behind me,
 I'll lead ya through the slums,
 SO FOLLOW ME DOWN!

The Puppet Master

She smiles and stares, with her venomous eyes
The dumbfounded expression on her face is replaced by sheer joy.
Another of my kind has fallen victim to the beast.
She picks him up, an expression is felt, wanderlust and curiosity.
Hmm, a bright new toy to add to an ongoing pile.
The searing, rushing, erotic sensation is felt
As she immerses herself in delight.
She plays with him for but a moment.
He feels security and love.
Suddenly without a care, her eyes turn crimson
The flames are seen singed on her angel wings
She shreds off the red button that gave him a glow.
Forever able to manipulate and control.
He's banished into his wooden prison.

Suddenly, she sees me motionless, pitying him.
She relishes the moment, she can taste my fear.
Catlike grace, she floats to me as an apparition
She is poised to strike, her hands greedy
Her teeth gleam as silver daggers.
She weaves her silk like magic and sings her siren song.
My head swims and is brought to the heavens,
Only to spiral downwards into a dark cesspool of desire.
The smell is intoxicating as it arouses my every sense.
I am hers and she is mine, what ignorance.
Am I loved, dance with me puppet master.
My body is being pulled by invisible chains.
I leap and dance for her fancy and yet....
The curtains close, her hazel eyes get averted
She smiles once more as another complies to her will.
And I'm thrown into my box to wait.
Who says we can hold what is never ours.

*The whole game's his to reinvent
 No doubt his skillz represent
 Dunking over disbelievers leaving rims with dents
 Then asking what you meant
 When you tried to disrespect the name Shawn Kemp
 This is his house, you late with the rent
 Your games like Penny, you ain't worth but a cent
 Y'all amateurs have the tendency
 To envy the acquired symmetry
 Of your worst enemy
 With dunks as dangerous as a felony
 Bring such sweet melody
 Shawn takes the game to a level that's higher
 With the skillz he acquired
 While yours are much dryer
 That punk MJ's lucky he retired
 Cause Kemp was 'bout to set his  on fire*

*Have you ever woken up to find
That nothing seems the same.
The world keeps going 'round as planned
Just like the day before
But somehow you are different
Than how you've always been,
What once was done with painless ease
Now seems the highest mountain,
What once was harty diamond
Is now quicksand 'neath your feet.*

COMES FROM WITHIN

IT WON’T MATTER,” THEY SAID,

IT’S ON FOR ONE REASON ONLY
WHICH IS COMPLETELY DIFFERENT

MARK MANIFOLD IN TWENTY LINES

O! What foul he atudes will he sought tomorrow
Of brazen words, in action floundered?
Whose silence unsundered will wring hallow
Out that infinite Orpheus undone,
In such a gaze, a breath, unsung?
What premature thought, indiscreet as a whim,
Cleaves that one sorrow, that without
Is within? It yet lingers,
That sublime ache’s apprehension
That make a double birth,
For the shame that cries mirth.
And it, inked by some sublime hand,
Not of soothing earth, but native recognition
Makes us wax under the moon. Linked,
To fall withering, weary of this land
Whose thinness in grain, is hence
Unconquered by grand lotus, strained.
If only to sever and flow that burning hue,
Drift to view hallowed indifference
Until subtle freedoms.
