Ode to Wagar Teachers.

For all the years of Wagar High,
The four years that fly by so fast.
The years we spend together,
Before our graduating class.

To Wagar and its faculty,
To all teachers and staff.
We dedicate this poem to you,
In hope you'll learn to laugh.

Teachers are so understanding,
That when we're six seconds late,
They sadly say "I'm sorry" and
Be there tomorrow at eight!

Homeroom teachers are moody,
They may wake up nasty and mean.
Some don't ever read the bulletin,
They just teach until their green.

English teachers thrive
On Shakespeare and his plays.
History teachers love documents,
And historical essays.

Science teachers lust for formulas,
And species that are rare.
French teachers feed off orals,
And verbs, texts and grammair.

Math teachers are fanatics,
From exponents to functions and logs.
Gym teachers like seeing us run,
Around the school like dogs.

All the electives are fun,
Marks are such a breeze.
This is because the teachers,
Were hired with no degrees.

Wagar you have proven to us,
A theory that is very concrete.
School is an institution,
To keep teachers off the street.

We've stood the test of time,
We've been thru your every test.
In other words we think your great,
The nicest and the best.
